

FTC Questions Physician Control Of Blue Shield

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission is investigating the huge Blue Shield insurance system to determine if physician control of the 72-million member program stifles competition and contributes to the dramatic increase in health care costs for all Americans.

Blue Shield now provides physician-care insurance for 40 per cent of the nation's population and pays out over $3 billion annually in doctor's fees, the FTC said.

The FTC said today its nonpublic investigation will encompass all of the 71 Blue Shield plans across the nation as well as the National Association of Blue Shield Plans.

Blue Shield officials said they would cooperate with the FTC investigation. They also said the investigation was not evidence of any illegality and they defended physician involvement with Blue Shield.

FTC officials gave no details of the planned investigation, except to say they would study control of Blue Shield by physicians and its impact on competition and delivery of healthcare services to all Americans.

But it was learned that the agency is concerned, among other things, that the plan's large share of the physician-care business allegedly gives Blue Shield a major voice in determining the prevailing fees charged by physicians in any given community.

There were indications the investigation would touch on contentions that since medical doctors themselves control the program, competition from other health plans not administered by doctors is interfered with.

Physician control of Blue Shield varies from plan to plan but physicians involved in administration of Blue Shield basically are determining the amounts that Blue Shield will pay them for services performed for subscribers.

A three-month investigation last year by The Associated Press concluded that Blue Shield's practices encourage physicians to raise their bills.

The national Blue Shield association requires local boards of directors to have a majority of "public" members representing subscribers instead of doctors. But The AP investigation found that many of these "public" members are chosen by doctors and hospitals rather than by subscribers.

Government figures show that doctors' fees have risen 85 per cent in the past 10 years, compared to a 68 per cent increase in the over-all cost of living. The AP investigation concluded that the soaring medical costs resulted in part from the failure of Blue Shield to impose cost controls on physicians.

It has been indicated the FTC will attempt in its probe to determine if doctors involved with Blue Shield are in a conflict-of-interest situation in setting the formulas that establish the fees they and other doctors are to be paid for their services.

The FTC said, however, that the investigation of Blue Shield does not imply that there are any violations of the law and the probe could end without any action being taken by the government.

Massachusetts Primary Upcoming

BOSTON (AP) — Democrats running for president, led by newly advanced frontrunner Jimmy Carter, are turning their attention to Massachusetts and the second primary test of the election year.

The Bay State primary next Tuesday involves more Democrats and less Republican activity and introduces new rules and a highly volatile issue, busing.

The Democratic field in Massachusetts includes the five candidates in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary as well as three others — Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Carter, the former Georgia governor who polled 30 per cent of the vote to lead the field in New Hampshire, predicted Wednesday he would win, place or show in the second primary test.

Following Carter in the New Hampshire voting were Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred

Harris and Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1972.

The key stumbling block for Carter and the others could well be Wallace, who chose to start his primary campaign in the only state that voted Democratic in the presidential election four years ago.

Wallace already has devoted an extraordinary amount of time to Massachusetts. Most others will spend a good part of the next five days here, but Carter aides say their candidate has planned a bare four hours here — bringing his total Massachusetts time to 85 hours.

Udall, whose second place finish in New Hampshire led him to declare himself the leading progressive candidate, said Wednesday he believes Wallace could get 15 per cent of the vote in Massachusetts. Other estimates have been higher in the seven-way race which could be won with 20 or 25 per cent.

President Ford is considered the heavy favorite on the Republican side in a lackluster contest with Ronald Reagan, the former California governor who took 49 per cent to Ford's 51 per cent in New Hampshire.

Ford aides designated Reagan the "phantom" opponent because he lacks an official organization here. But his television and radio advertising has reached both Massachusetts and New Hampshire audiences.

Reagan, campaigning Wednesday in Illinois for the March 16 primary there, released a financial statement putting his net worth at $1,445,571.

The statement, released without comment, said his income for the five years ending in 1974 was $528,518 and estimated his 1975 income at $282,253. It showed Reagan paid taxes of $135,380 from 1970 to 1974 and an estimated $119,332 for 1975.

Electrical Shock Kills Local Man

Despite extensive efforts to revive him, a 22-year-old Circleville man died late Wednesday night in University Hospital, Columbus, of injuries associated with a high-voltage electrical shock.

Thomas A. Anderson Jr., 814 N. Court St., was pronounced dead at the Columbus hospital 10:45 p.m., nearly four hours after a large citizen band radio antenna he was erecting came in contact with a 15,000 volt power line.

According to the report of Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Deal, Anderson was assisting Loren Alexander, 36, 367 Neville Dr., erect a 60-foot aluminum pole antenna in the rear of Alexander's Jefferson addition home about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The pole apparently came in contact with the high-voltage line, knocking both men to the ground. Alexander, who was semi-conscious for about three minutes, called for assistance at a neighbor's house.

Two Pickaway Twp. firemen, Kenny Graf, and Warren Spangler, monitored the call by the Sheriff's Department, and rushed to lend assistance. After checking Anderson and finding no pulse or respiration, they began and continued CPR resuscitation until the Circleville Emergency Squad arrived.

EMT members revived Anderson to the point that he had a slight pulse and shallow breathing by the time they reached Berger Hospital, and emergency room personnel worked nearly 2 and a half hours before releasing him to the Columbus hospital's burn unit.

Alexander was treated at the emergency room for third degree burns to his feet and first and second degree burns to both hands.

Anderson, a substitute agriculture teacher at the Pickaway Ross Joint Vocational School, was a member of the Society of American Florists, the Ohio State Florists Assn., and the Brehmer Greenhouse bowling team.

Born April 23, 1953, in Circleville, he was the son of Thomas and Carlene Alexander Anderson, who survive at 550 Plaza Drive.

Other survivors include his widow, Roberta Beavers Anderson; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Leona Anderson, 256 Ludwig; maternal grandmother, Mrs. John Eddins, Atmore, Ala.; paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Boyer, 115 E. Mill St.; one sister, Pamela Sue Anderson, 550 Plaza Drive.

Funeral service will be 2 p.m. Saturday at the Nazarene Church with the Rev. William Hill and the Rev. Dennis Kelley officiating. Burial will be in Floral Hills Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Wellman Funeral Home beginning 7 p.m. tonight.

Memorial contributions would be to the Nazarene Church or Gideon Bible Society would be appreciated by the family.

CANCER CRUSADE — Joe Tomlinson has accepted the responsibility as vice-chairman for the 1976 Pickaway County Cancer Crusade. Although the disease has not been completely conquered he said that many more people are being cured and great strides have been made through research to ease the discomfort of patients through surgery and with new medications. He says the often used phrase "We Want To Wipe Out Cancer In Your Lifetime" is the aim of all workers for the Cancer Society, doctors and researchers.

CIA's Spy Vessel White Elephant For Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unable to find a use for the CIA's multi-million dollar Glomar Explorer, the government is trying to lease the spy ship to private industry for deep-sea mining, according to industry and government officials.

But executives for two of the three corporations that government officials hoped might submit bids expressed no interest in the sophisticated vessel, which was used by the CIA to recover part of a Russian submarine from the bottom of the Pacific Ocean.

"It's a white elephant that just attracts attention," an executive for International Nickel Co. said of the ship, which was built under a secret agreement between the CIA and a corporation controlled by reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes.

"The possibilities (of leasing the Glomar) are quite minimal," said an executive for Deepsea Ventures, a Tenneco Inc., subsidiary.

Marne Dubs, head of Kennecott Copper Inc.'s deep-sea mining division, was the only executive queried by a reporter who seemed interested in the Glomar, calling it "probably the most important new ocean engineering tool that's been created in recent years."

Dubs added that Kennecott would make no final decision on whether to submit a bid for the Glomar until after the General Services Administration publishes bid requirements in the Federal Register.

The GSA currently is custodian of the Glomar. The CIA, which is believed to have recovered only part of the sunken Soviet sub in 1974, scrubbed plans for another salvage attempt for fear of a clash with Russian vessels now patrolling the wreckage site near Hawaii.

A GSA spokesman refused to confirm plans for the Glomar, but said leasing is "one of the propositions that we're kicking around."

A member of an interagency task force studying Glomar said if private industry won't lease the ship, it will be put up for auction at a bargain price or sold for scrap. Either way, an official said, "it would be a pretty small return on the dollar for the taxpayer."

One alternative eyed by the task force was turning over the Glomar to a government agency such as the Interior Department's Ocean Mining Administration. But, said one official, "no federal agency wants to come up with the funds" needed to operate and maintain the Glomar.

Lisa Ann Leahy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leahy, 593 Mapleview Lane, has been selected by the American Field Service as an exchange student for the school year 1976-77.

After extensive interviews locally and in the regional center in Columbus, Lisa's application was forwarded to AFS International in New York last November. She received her early acceptance February 21 and will be informed later as to the family and country in which she will spend the coming year.

Miss Leahy, who graduates in June, ranks eighth in her class. She is currently president of the senior class, Student Council spirit committee co-chairman, president of the AFS Club, a guard on the girls' varsity basketball team, a member of NHS, EMS, Curtain Callers and Red and Black. Always interested in sports, Lisa was a cheerleader for three years and has also played varsity volleyball and softball.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government called it a simple clerical mistake, "a bureaucratic error," but it cost Louis R. Altmark more than a year of his life behind bars.

Justice Department officials laid out the story Wednesday and said they'll consider "what could or should be done to compensate" for the mistake which forced Altmark to serve a year and five days longer than his 30-month prison sentence for auto theft.

Altmark, 41, was released Monday from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta immediately after prison officials discovered and verified that the error had happened.

"We were chagrined," said Michael Aun, spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

"I was horrified," said U.S. District Judge Newell Edenfield of Atlanta, who sentenced Altmark and learned of the error in a meeting with prison officials Monday.

Justice Department officials will review the case "with an eye toward what could or should be done for possible redress of what happened to this man," said spokesman Dean St. Dennis. He said the department wants to officially notify Altmark of the mistake, but hasn't been able to reach him.

In the past, Aun said, federal prisoners mistakenly have been jailed for a day or two longer than their sentences but bureau officials can't recall any previous mistake of this magnitude.

Altmark was sentenced on Jan. 7, 1972, to a five-year term for stealing a 1964 Pontiac, which he attempted to sell to a stranger on a street in Atlanta.

Edenfield later cut the sentence in Finan said Rhodes had vetoed the bill at the urging of county commissioners who objected to the added financial burden it would place on local governments. The bill carries no appropriation.

In his Feb. 16 veto message, the governor said: "This legislation is another example of the General Assembly mandating costly programs upon the local governments of this state without affording those local governments the means to pay these additional costs."

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93, who cast the sole dissenting vote when the bill originally passed the House last year, agreed. "The question is, are local governments to be made to bear the burden of the increase without any half, to 2½ years, but cannot recall why. The judge thinks he sent Altmark a notice of his action.

It's not clear whether Altmark received the information, but there's no question that prison officials were notified.

The information was recorded in Altmark's file at the prison, but it was not added to a summary card attached to the file folder. So no one in authority at the prison realized on Feb. 18, 1975, that Altmark was supposed to go free on that date.

In addition to the 30 months, he was serving about seven months for violating the terms of his release from a previous prison sentence.

Altmark apparently never questioned the length of his sentence and "we're puzzled about that," said Aun. If Altmark knew his sentence had been cut, "we don't know why on earth he didn't raise a fuss."

Rhodes Veto Of Witness Pay Bill Overridden

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans joined with Democrats Wednesday to override their own governor's veto of a GOP-sponsored bill, marking the second legislative defeat in two days for Gov. James A. Rhodes.

By a resounding 81-10 margin, House members voted to nullify Rhodes' rejection of a bill that would increase witnesses fees in criminal and civil court cases.

Their action followed by one day an historic Senate vote in which lawmakers from both Houses succeeded in overriding a gubernatorial veto for the first time in nearly 15 years.

Reagan Net Worth Said $1,455,571

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan, a millionaire who has plowed most of his money into real estate, has offered a partial look at his finances which shows he is one of the wealthiest presidential hopefuls.

Reagan says he is worth $1,455,571 and earned $282,000 last year. The richest presidential candidate, and the only other acknowledged millionaire, is Democrat Milton Shapp who says he is worth about $2.8 million. Sargent Shriver put his net worth at $135,000 as of last August, but no information was given about his wife, the former Eunice Kennedy, who shares in the Kennedy family's trust funds.

Reagan did not itemize the sources of his income, but his financial statement released Wednesday shows he is a far wealthier man than his Republican opponent, President Ford, who has listed assets of $323,489.

Reagan released net worth and income tax figures for a five-year period, while Ford's disclosure went back nine years and was itemized so the public could trace the sources of his and his wife's income.

Most of Ford's worth is in real estate, mostly in his home and several other properties the Ford family uses occasionally.

Reagan's statement indicated he has heavily invested in real estate and common stock, and one real estate investment seemed undervalued, though the county assessor said Reagan's estimate was accurate.

Based on a previously reported assessment, Reagan's undeveloped Rancho California "investment" property in Riverside County, Calif., was believed to be worth $1.67 million. The assessor said Tuesday that the property was worth $417,500 as Reagan said, chiefly because it is zoned as agricultural land.

Cincy Employees Facing Layoffs

court order and busing — an explosive issue — is expected to figure prominently in the state primary election.

Both Wallace and Jackson have courted the antibusing vote. None of the other Democrats have made direct appeals for the antibusing vote.

Wallace challenges audiences to "shake the eye teeth off everyone who have done what they've done to you" by giving him "a good vote." But publicly, Wallace, who polled 7.2 per cent of the 1972 Massachusetts primary vote after one appearance, is modest in his expectations, saying only his status has "improved."

Jackson, meanwhile, forecast triumph in Massachusetts. "This is the final drive to victory," he shouted at a rally Wednesday night.

Udall has contended that two separate Democratic races are developing, one between what he called the "big bruisers," Wallace and Jackson, the other among the rest of the field.

In a statement released by Udall's campaign office Wednesday, Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic nominee, accepted Udall's two-race idea, contending Carter won as the "lone conservative" in New Hampshire and Udall as the progressive.

"If we are heading toward a race between Udall and Carter, Udall is clearly the better man," McGovern said, "in his record, his constancy of principle and his vision of the country."

Hearing Set To Abandon C & O Station

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has scheduled a public hearing April 14 in Columbus to review the application of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. to abandon its agency station in Pickaway County.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. at the commission offices, 111 N. High St., Columbus.

Vee Station, as it is called by Chessie officials, is located near DuPont off Route 23. Agent is Myrl Kuhn, who has manned the post for about six years.

The line, part of the connector between Russell, Ky., and Columbus, services DuPont, Scioto Chemicals, Sturm and Dillard, Reynolds Aluminum, and 84 Lumber Co.

The C & O filed its application on Jan. 13, requesting authority to discontinue its agency station in Pickaway County and make the station a non-agency station for car-load freight only.

Funding Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new chapter, keyed to a $4 million supplemental appropriation, has been hastily written in the continuing saga of a financial "albatross," the 41-story State Office Tower.

House members voted 97-1 Wednesday to put the money in the hands of the Democratic-dominated State Controlling Board for interest and operating expenses on the tower over the next year and a half.

About $212,000 will be used to meet an April 16 interest payment on the building's $82.8 million total debt. The bill must still be approved by the Senate.

Dissatisfied with tower's financing agent, the Ohio Building Authority, legislative leaders are expected to meet early next month with OBA officials to discuss a long-range financing plan.

"I can't say that this clears up all of the problems that the Ohio Building Authority has," warned Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who sponsored the supplemental bill.

The rapid action on the bill provided a dramatic example of how fast the legislative process can work when there is bipartisan agreement.

Following a meeting of Democratic leaders Tuesday morning and a subsequent contact with the GOP administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes, the bill was introduced, voted out of committee in the afternoon, and approved 24 hours later on the House floor.

Arms Sales To Egypt Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli sources say they have a clear-cut commitment from the Ford administration that there will be no U.S. arms sales to Egypt beyond some C130 transport planes now under consideration.

Egypt has been seeking a wide range of American military equipment from wireguided antitank weapons and Hawk antiaircraft missiles to fighter planes. A decision to maintain the arms ban, with the possible exception of the C130s, could intensify Egypt's search for arms in Britain, France and elsewhere.

U.S. officials have insisted publicly that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat did not come with a "shopping list" during his visit here in October, but word has circulated that he is pressing for U.S. arms aid partly to substitute for a Soviet cutoff and also to show to the Arab world that going along with U.S. diplomacy in the Middle East pays off.

The administration has begun to take soundings on Capitol Hill on the sale of the transport planes, which would mark a lifting of the long-standing ban on the sale of military equipment to Egypt but which does not appear to disturb the Israelis.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was narrowly mixed today, continuing to hesitate on the doorstep of the 1,000 level in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials.

The closely followed indicator was off a fraction in the early going, but advances took a 4-3 lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading remained heavy, with the composite ticker tape reporting trades in NYSE stocks running as much as six minutes late.

Analysts noted no special influences in the economic news. They said the market still seemed to be caught up in a tug-of-war between buyers and profit takers while Wall Street debated the prospects for 1,000 and beyond in the Dow.

Today's early prices included LIV, up 1/8 at 16; NCR, of 1/4 at 28; Westinghouse Electric, down 1/4 at 17 1/2, and American Standard, up 1/4 at 24 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average finished an up-and-down day with a 1.02 gain at 994.57.

The richest presidential candidate, and the only other acknowledged millionaire, is Democrat Milton Shapp who says he is worth about $2.8 million. Sargent Shriver put his net worth at $135,000 as of last August, but no information was given about his wife, the former Eunice Kennedy, who shares in the Kennedy family's trust funds.

Reagan did not itemize the sources of his income, but his financial statement released Wednesday shows he is a far wealthier man than his Republican opponent, President Ford, who has listed assets of $323,489.

Reagan released net worth and income tax figures for a five-year period, while Ford's disclosure went back nine years and was itemized so the public could trace the sources of his and his wife's income.

Most of Ford's worth is in real estate, mostly in his home and several other properties the Ford family uses occasionally.

Reagan's statement indicated he has heavily invested in real estate and common stock, and one real estate investment seemed undervalued, though the county assessor said Reagan's estimate was accurate.

Based on a previously reported assessment, Reagan's undeveloped Rancho California "investment" property in Riverside County, Calif., was believed to be worth $1.67 million. The assessor said Tuesday that the property was worth $417,500 as Reagan said, chiefly because it is zoned as agricultural land.

Cincy Employees Facing Layoffs

"We hired these people to get them a job," Donaldson said.

court order and busing — an explosive issue — is expected to figure prominently in the state primary election.

Both Wallace and Jackson have courted the antibusing vote. None of the other Democrats have made direct appeals for the antibusing vote.

Wallace challenges audiences to "shake the eye teeth off everyone who have done what they've done to you" by giving him "a good vote." But publicly, Wallace, who polled 7.2 per cent of the 1972 Massachusetts primary vote after one appearance, is modest in his expectations, saying only his status has "improved."

Jackson, meanwhile, forecast triumph in Massachusetts. "This is the final drive to victory," he shouted at a rally Wednesday night.

Udall has contended that two separate Democratic races are developing, one between what he called the "big bruisers," Wallace and Jackson, the other among the rest of the field.

In a statement released by Udall's campaign office Wednesday, Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic nominee, accepted Udall's two-race idea, contending Carter won as the "lone conservative" in New Hampshire and Udall as the progressive.

"If we are heading toward a race between Udall and Carter, Udall is clearly the better man," McGovern said, "in his record, his constancy of principle and his vision of the country."

Hearing Set To Abandon C & O Station

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has scheduled a public hearing April 14 in Columbus to review the application of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. to abandon its agency station in Pickaway County.

The hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. at the commission offices, 111 N. High St., Columbus.

Vee Station, as it is called by Chessie officials, is located near DuPont off Route 23. Agent is Myrl Kuhn, who has manned the post for about six years.

The line, part of the connector between Russell, Ky., and Columbus, services DuPont, Scioto Chemicals, Sturm and Dillard, Reynolds Aluminum, and 84 Lumber Co.

The C & O filed its application on Jan. 13, requesting authority to discontinue its agency station in Pickaway County and make the station a non-agency station for car-load freight only.

Funding Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new chapter, keyed to a $4 million supplemental appropriation, has been hastily written in the continuing saga of a financial "albatross," the 41-story State Office Tower.

House members voted 97-1 Wednesday to put the money in the hands of the Democratic-dominated State Controlling Board for interest and operating expenses on the tower over the next year and a half.

About $212,000 will be used to meet an April 16 interest payment on the building's $82.8 million total debt. The bill must still be approved by the Senate.

Dissatisfied with tower's financing agent, the Ohio Building Authority, legislative leaders are expected to meet early next month with OBA officials to discuss a long-range financing plan.

"I can't say that this clears up all of the problems that the Ohio Building Authority has," warned Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who sponsored the supplemental bill.

The rapid action on the bill provided a dramatic example of how fast the legislative process can work when there is bipartisan agreement.

Following a meeting of Democratic leaders Tuesday morning and a subsequent contact with the GOP administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes, the bill was introduced, voted out of committee in the afternoon, and approved 24 hours later on the House floor.

—In Minnesota, Gov. Wendell Anderson said he believes Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey will reassess his position about the presidential race after the early primaries.

Humphrey, who has not declared as a candidate but is supported by a write-in campaign in Massachusetts, picked up 50 per cent of the county convention delegates in Tuesday night caucuses in Minnesota, his home state. Most of the rest of the delegates were uncommitted.

The Republican sampling of the precinct caucuses, which begin a four-month delegate selection process, showed Ford with 53 per cent, Reagan with 36 per cent and the rest uncommitted.

—Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller said Wednesday night in Philadelphia that Ford's victory in New Hampshire shows that the President is "in tune with the American people." He predicted Ford would "go on to win the nomination and be re-elected" and said he would campaign for the President if asked.

Arms Sales To Egypt Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli sources say they have a clear-cut commitment from the Ford administration that there will be no U.S. arms sales to Egypt beyond some C130 transport planes now under consideration.

Egypt has been seeking a wide range of American military equipment from wireguided antitank weapons and Hawk antiaircraft missiles to fighter planes. A decision to maintain the arms ban, with the possible exception of the C130s, could intensify Egypt's search for arms in Britain, France and elsewhere.

U.S. officials have insisted publicly that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat did not come with a "shopping list" during his visit here in October, but word has circulated that he is pressing for U.S. arms aid partly to substitute for a Soviet cutoff and also to show to the Arab world that going along with U.S. diplomacy in the Middle East pays off.

The administration has begun to take soundings on Capitol Hill on the sale of the transport planes, which would mark a lifting of the long-standing ban on

Judge Sirica Ends Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who collapsed after suffering a massive heart attack Feb. 5, is out of the hospital.

Sirica's law clerk, Robert Ruyak, said there is no sign the judge intends to resign. In the meantime, Sirica's doctors have prescribed "a good long rest" at home for the judge, who will be 72 March 19.

Sirica collapsed while giving a speech to a lawyers' group. Although his heart stopped working for 15 minutes, the judge survived, doctors said, because of emergency treatment by those at the scene and in the ambulance on the way to George Washington University Hospital.

Sirica presided over the two most important criminal trials of the Watergate scandals and is credited with forcing disclosures which ultimately forced Richard M. Nixon to resign the presidency.

Middlemen Take Big Food Bite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revenue for those who handle food products between the farm and the home kitchen continued to climb last month while returns to the farmers continued to slip, new Agriculture Department figures show.

For example, a composite retail price for all cuts of choice beef — which exerts a significant influence on over-all price statistics — showed a drop in the retail price of 1.3 per cent from December.

At the same time the farm price for those cuts was dropping 12.1 per cent and the returns to others in the meat-marketing process together rose 14.2 per cent.

The Ohio Agricultural College first recommended in 1848 by Allen Trimble, first president of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture, was established in 1854. Lectures were given at Oberlin and Cleveland over a three-year period, but the school was closed for lack of funds. The Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College began operations in Columbus in 1873, and in 1878 the legislature changed the name to Ohio State University.

For the 60-plus U.S. farm-produced foods used by the USDA's Economic Research Service in its monthly "marketbasket" study of the price spreads between farms and food stores, charges for assembling, processing, transporting and distributing the food rose 1 per cent to make four consecutive months of increases.

From 1973 to 1974, those charges increased 20 per cent; from 1974 through 1975, 9 per cent. Marketing costs had risen, respectively, 19 and 13 per cent, USDA says.

For the farmer, returns were down by 1.8 per cent from December.

In terms of the consumer's dollar, middlemen last month got 59.5 cents — up 1.19 per cent from December, up 4.57 per cent from October and down less than 1 per cent from January 1975, when the farm-to-retail price spreads were at record levels.

The farmers' share had risen 1.5 per cent from January to January, but was down 1.7 per cent from December and 6.04 per cent from October, the ERS figures showed.

Wholesale and retail price changes lag one or more months behind farm-price activity, USDA economists point out.

Terrorist Groups Still In Shadows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — They are cut off from their past, from friends and family — revolutionaries living in shadowy, elusive underground bands.

Yet the urban guerrillas of the Weather Underground, New World Liberation Front, Emiliano Zapata Unit and other groups put out communiques, magazines and books designed to deliver their messages to the public.

The Weather Underground telephones local news media to tell where communiques are hidden. The Symbionese Liberation Army left its radical epistles in bathrooms, luggage lockers and phone booths. The Zapata Unit usually mails its messages directly to local newspapers and broadcast stations. The New World Liberation Front has a "courier" who hand-delivers its bulletins.

The FBI tries to obtain the original copies of such communications. In almost every instance, messages received by news media have been photocopied or are machine-printed.

But a recent raid by FBI agents and other law enforcement officers turned up original documents of the Emiliano Zapata Unit.

Besides trying to find clues such as typeface or fingerprints to help in their search for underground terrorists, the FBI says, keeping track of the radical publications can provide insights into the life of urban guerrillas.

"We're interested in these things," said FBI spokesman Frank Perrone. "They give us more information than we would have without them. It's that much more we can know about these people."

Little is known about the size or composition of the Zapata unit or NWLF, except that both have claimed responsibility for a number of terrorist bombings in Northern California, the FBI says.

Jacques Rogiers, a self-admitted NWLF courier, has said the underground journals are a means for clandestine bands to give advice to each other and consolidate politics.

Rogiers faces a court hearing next week on a contempt of grand jury charge. The panel wanted to learn more about how he receives communiques from the NWLF — the group that recently issued threats against Patricia Hearst and her family.

On June 3, 1974, the Supreme Court ruled women who do the same work as men are entitled to the same pay rates.

A Page Of Opinion

Doing The Daylight Time Waltz

The fumble-fingered U.S. Congress is again doing the daylight time waltz.

Latest move afoot is to make daylight time run for eight months. Under present law, the time change will revert to six months, as it had been before the last meddling.

The Transportation Department says the longer daylight time period conserves a small amount of energy and has saved a few lives on the highways. Opponents claim nothing of the sort can be proved.

Changing time is an inconvenience, but does make for much more daylight work time in the summer months, plus allowing workers to enjoy more recreation in the evenings.

This is all well and good. However, the continued changing of the time period by Congress should be brought to an end.

Let there be daylight saving time. But for goodness sake, pass a law setting the dates and then let well enough alone!

Notion That Jarred The Nation

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — When Big Business puts its foot in its mouth, the crunch is heard around the land.

Thus it was that a big baby-food manufacturer, Beech-Nut, partook of its own toes recently by sending out letters to 760,000 American mothers, warning them that attempts to prepare baby foods at home can result in a "significant risk of bacterial contamination and resultant food poisoning."

In this self-serving letter, Beech-Nut president Frank C. Nicholas even suggested that home-prepared spinach, carrots and beets might even cause baby's skin to turn blue, "and asphyxiation could result."

Such unfounded scare-prose - rather than achieving the objective of nipping in the bud a slowly growing movement toward home-preparation of infant fare - opened a can of words in consumer and family circles. It is also turning out to be an enormous boost to the cook-it-yourself concept in baby feeding.

"It never occurred to me to make my own baby food," says a young mother, "until Beech-Nut caused all this fuss. Now, from what I read, I'm uneasy about buying Jimmy's food in the jars."

It is ironic that an inept and misleading flyer from a major U.S. corporation should backfire, giving great momentum, to the trend they were trying - too desperately - to quench. Some pediatricians, incensed at the Beech-Nut letter, termed the serious dangers it referred to in the home-preparation as virtually zero. And consumer specialists reassured mothers that a voluminous study conducted by Consumers Union last September had concluded:

Commercial baby food isn't as nutritious as home-made baby food.

And the added ingredients in commercially packaged foods, plus the processing and heat treatment, removes much of the texture and flavor of the original ingredients. Moreover, claimed CU, the added ingredients include starches, sugar and salt which "take up room," made it tastier (for parents, but not babies), and are not necessarily good for infants.

Baby-food labels are also misleading, the nonprofit organization pointed out. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that the first word in a food product's name must identify the ingredient present in the largest amount: "So 'Beef with Gravy' must contain more beef than gravy. But then we come to 'Chicken Noodle Dinner' or 'Turkey and Rice with Vegetables Dinner.' In each (case), you'd expect to find more meat than vegetables. But you don't. The USDA says that such names are 'traditional' and therefore need not conform to the guideline."

Before Beech-Nut put its corporate extremity in its oral cavity, most mothers were not aware of the simplicity and economic benefits of home preparation over the commercial variety.

But now, consumer protective groups are hammering home the truths. It is now being revealed, while the dangers of hurting a child with home-made dinners are virtually nil, many commercial varieties have been found to contain enamel paint chips broken off from the undersides of jar lids. Quoth CU: "One high-meat dinner - Beech-Nut Beef with Vegetables and Cereal - contained ... more than 20 chips per jar."

And "every jar of baby food we tested had a manufacturer's dating code on its label or lid," said CU researchers. "We couldn't interpret any of them."

There are now bills before the U.S. Senate seeking to require baby-food makers to list all major ingredients, by percentages, on their labels. Passage of those bills, which have been resisted by the manufacturers, will be spurred by the current public feeling.

By using unfounded and unvalidatable fears to discourage mothers from making their own baby foods, big business has dramatically boosted the sales of such books as "The Complete Guide to Preparing Baby Foods at Home" (Sue Castle, Doubleday), and a new softcover "Instant Baby Food" (Linda McDonald, Oaklawn Press).

NEW YORK (AP) — Are economic issues presented correctly to the American public? Prof. Walter Heller is among those who think not. He claims people are miseducated and misled, and that as a result they misunderstand.

Is the Federal government expanding like some "monstrous protoplasmic blob that threatens to snuff out economic freedom and initiative?" asks Heller. No, he says, that's a myth of some Republicans. As are the views of so many other economists, especially in this election year, Heller's outlook often is tied to his political interests. He is a former chief economic adviser to both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Heller's criticisms, possibly as a direct result of his politics, aren't so much directed at the educational system, or at economists specifically, as they are aimed at the administrations in power during "recent years."

They have, he suggests, engendered needless anxiety and a loss of faith in the American economy. He told some of this to the Joint Economic Committee of Congress earlier this month and is now recirculating some of the views to the news media.

About that "monstrous protoplasmic blob," for example, he maintains that the federal budget as a proportion of Gross National Product held virtually steady at about 20 per cent from 1953 to 1973.

It is projected to rise to 21.5 per cent in fiscal 1977, he concedes, but adds that "adjusted to a full-employment basis, the figure would be right back at 20 per cent."

Consider what he feels is another misleading assumption, the "crushing burden of federal debt." Says Heller: "A striking chart included in last year's budget documents (but omitted this year) shows that the federal debt held by the public dropped from 82 per cent of annual GNP in 1920 to 26 per cent in 1974."

Seen in this perspective, he adds, the public debt is a far different and more manageable problem than the general impression abroad in the land.

A third area of widespread misapprehension, Heller continues, centers on the large deficits in the federal budget. He finds what he calls "two misimpressions" being fostered:

1. That the $70 billion to $75 billion deficit is profligate and irresponsible, "when, in fact, it is almost entirely a hostage to recession."

If we were operating at full employment, he states, tax revenues would be $50 to $55 billion higher than they are, and unemployment compensation would be about $15 billion lower.

Other "cyclically responsive outlays like food stamps, Medicare and Medicaid, and pensions, would be about $5 billion lower."

Therefore, he concludes: "Almost all of the deficit is a product of the recession."

2. A related charge that government deficits are the root of all inflationary evil. "How is it, then, that inflation is ebbing in the face of the largest deficits in history?" Heller asks.

Single Health Grant Pushed By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is sending Congress his proposals to give the states a single $10-billion block grant for health services in place of the present system of 16 separate grants.

It's the second of three special block-grant programs Ford is proposing to Congress to simplify federal regulations and let the states decide how they will spend federal funds. Congressional Democrats are expected to give a cool reception to the proposals.

The health message, which Ford is scheduled to sign in a ceremony today, would provide funds for Medicare, public health service and health planning.

He told the National Governors' Conference Monday that his proposals consolidating Medicaid and 15 other categorical health programs into a single $10-billion block grant included a commitment that each state "will receive more federal funds from this single program in fiscal year 1977 than your state received in 1976 from 16 existing programs."

He told the governors that under his plan the "hard choices" of how to meet health needs in states would "no longer be defined by a complicated and categorical tangle of federal regulations. They will be for you and your citizens to determine in an open and locally responsive process."

20 Mexicans To Face Charges

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Federal illegal entry charges are to be filed against 20 Mexican nationals rounded up Tuesday in the area by the U.S. Border Patrol.

Donald Greer, senior agent in charge of the Border Patrol's northern region headquartered in Detroit, said most of the illegal aliens were seized at a foundry where they were employed, three were found at a private residence, one at a farm, and another, who is unemployed, at his residence. All of those arrested were taken to a federal detention center in Chicago.

Such catch phrases are created to get the attention of the gullible and they persist without any scientific basis.

Many people use this meaningless term to explain frequent colds, fatigue, irritability and a wide variety of other symptoms.

The "thin blood" myth undoubtedly was created to suggest that some of these symptoms could be cured by a particular product that was being advertised.

Obviously, "thin blood" is not synonymous with anemia. There is only one way that anemia can be determined. A blood sample, placed on a slide and examined under the microscope, can determine if anemia exists. It can also differentiate between the many types of anemia.

Those who peddle their miracle cures for nonexistent conditions like "thin blood," or "tired blood," exploit the vulnerable public and extract from them the millions of dollars that might be put to better use maintaining a good health.

Is the stitching operation always necessary during the delivery of a child?

Mrs. G. W., Okla.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Episiotomy is the technical term for the so-called "stitching operation" performed just before the delivery of the child.

A clean incision is made at the opening of the vagina to allow more room for the child to pass through the birth canal.

This incision is made to avoid laceration or tearing of the tissue as the baby emerges. The procedure is safe and is performed frequently, especially during the birth of the first child.

Humphrey Given Minnesota Backing

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, so far not an official candidate for his party's presidential nomination, has won expected early support from Democrats in his home state of Minnesota.

Voting at precinct caucuses throughout the state Tuesday night showed heavy backing for the former vice president and 1968 presidential nominee, with much of the remaining vote uncommitted.

Results from 34 of 52 sample precincts gave Humphrey 241 delegates to later county conventions, with 205 more uncommitted. Arizona Rep. Morris Udall had eight delegates, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter three and antiabortion candidate Ellen McCormack two.

Humphrey, 64, has said he will not seek the nomination but would accept a draft. He got 5 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire's Democratic primary Tuesday night as a write-in candidate.

Minnesota will have 65 delegates to the Democratic convention.

A sampling of sentiment at Republican caucuses, meanwhile, showed President Ford ahead of challenger Ronald Reagan. Voting in 94 of 100 precincts selected as a cross-section showed Ford with 765 votes to 517 for Reagan. Another 160 votes were uncommitted.

Tuesday's caucuses began a four-month series of conventions, with the first step the election of delegates to county conventions. No national convention delegates will be selected in either party until state and congressional district conventions starting in April.

Ford supporters called the President's showing "a clearcut victory," but Reagan campaign leaders said they were satisfied, too.

'Good' Marijuana Put On Shelves

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shopkeeper William Eisinger is openly selling marijuana here, and with the approval of the city prosecutor's office.

But buyers are getting decorative—rather than hallucinative effects—from the plants.

Eisinger sells leaves and seeds of the plant encased in plastic for a variety of uses ranging from paper weights and jewelry to toilet seats.

Before he started offering the novelty items, he said he checked with the prosecutor's office about their legality and was told sale of marijuana is illegal only for use as a hallucinogen. "Legal marijuana is something everybody is looking for," Eisinger said. "For now, this is about as close as you can get."

Minnesota will send 42 delegates to the Republican National Convention. State Democratic Chairman Ulric Scott said the results show Minnesota Democrats still feel Humphrey is presidential timber. Scott said the number of uncommitted delegates was "notable" but not necessarily a slap at Humphrey.

Leaders of organized labor and Gov. Wendell Anderson had mounted a drive to win Humphrey support at the caucuses. Anderson had said Minnesota should have a pro-Humphrey delegation in readiness in case there is a deadlock at the Democratic National Convention.

Gun Control Again Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three main gun control proposals in Congress now contain a provision that would ban "Saturday night specials," cheap handguns blamed for much of the mayhem caused by firearms.

The House Judiciary Committee approved a ban on the "Saturday night specials" on Tuesday, clearing up the last major difference between the House measure and proposals in the Senate and by the Ford administration.

Sponsors of the amendment approved by the House panel say it would outlaw seven out of 10 new handguns made and sold in this country.

The three proposals for added federal controls on handguns now are closer than they have been in the past, although differences still remain. Each contains provisions for "Saturday night special" bans, mandatory sentencing for crimes involving firearms, restrictions on multiple handgun purchases and illicit firearms traffic.

The House panel adopted its "Saturday night special" ban 18 to 14. The amendment, by Rep. Martin Russo, D-Ill., bans guns below a certain size, but would not affect those now in private ownership.

It bans the manufacture, sale, possession or importation of new handguns that fail to meet the size criteria. Under its provisions, revolvers less than 5½ inches long, or with barrels less than four inches would be banned, as would pistols less than 8½ inches long.

The administration's "Saturday night special" provision and the Senate version pushed by Sen. Birch Bayh, chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, contain more detailed criteria to define "Saturday night specials."

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Doing The Daylight Time Waltz

The fumble-fingered U.S. Congress is again doing the daylight time waltz.

Latest move afoot is to make daylight time run for eight months. Under present law, the time change will revert to six months, as it had been before the last meddling.

The Transportation Department says the longer daylight time period conserves a small amount of energy and has saved a few lives on the highways. Opponents claim nothing of the sort can be proved.

Changing time is an inconvenience, but does make for much more daylight work time in the summer months, plus allowing workers to enjoy more recreation in the evenings.

This is all well and good. However, the continued changing of the time period by Congress should be brought to an end.

Let there be daylight saving time. But for goodness sake, pass a law setting the dates and then let well enough alone!

A sampling of sentiment at Republican caucuses, meanwhile, showed President Ford ahead of challenger Ronald Reagan. Voting in 94 of 100 precincts selected as a cross-section showed Ford with 765 votes to 517 for Reagan. Another 160 votes were uncommitted.

Tuesday's caucuses began a four-month series of conventions, with the first step the election of delegates to county conventions. No national convention delegates will be selected in either party until state and congressional district conventions starting in April.

Ford supporters called the President's showing "a clearcut victory," but Reagan campaign leaders said they were satisfied, too.

'Good' Marijuana Put On Shelves

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Shopkeeper William Eisinger is openly selling marijuana here, and with the approval of the city prosecutor's office.

But buyers are getting decorative—rather than hallucinative effects—from the plants.

Eisinger sells leaves and seeds of the plant encased in plastic for a variety of uses ranging from paper weights and jewelry to toilet seats.

Before he started offering the novelty items, he said he checked with the prosecutor's office about their legality and was told sale of marijuana is illegal only for use as a hallucinogen. "Legal marijuana is something everybody is looking for," Eisinger said. "For now, this is about as close as you can get."

Minnesota will send 42 delegates to the Republican National Convention. State Democratic Chairman Ulric Scott said the results show Minnesota Democrats still feel Humphrey is presidential timber. Scott said the number of uncommitted delegates was "notable" but not necessarily a slap at Humphrey.

Leaders of organized labor and Gov. Wendell Anderson had mounted a drive to win Humphrey support at the caucuses. Anderson had said Minnesota should have a pro-Humphrey delegation in readiness in case there is a deadlock at the Democratic National Convention.

Gun Control Again Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three main gun control proposals in Congress now contain a provision that would ban "Saturday night specials," cheap handguns blamed for much of the mayhem caused by firearms.

The House Judiciary Committee approved a ban on the "Saturday night specials" on Tuesday, clearing up the last major difference between the House measure and proposals in the Senate and by the Ford administration.

Sponsors of the amendment approved by the House panel say it would outlaw seven out of 10 new handguns made and sold in this country.

The three proposals for added federal controls on handguns now are closer than they have been in the past, although differences still remain. Each contains provisions for "Saturday night special" bans, mandatory sentencing for crimes involving firearms, restrictions on multiple handgun purchases and illicit firearms traffic.

The House panel adopted its "Saturday night special" ban 18 to 14. The amendment, by Rep. Martin Russo, D-Ill., bans guns below a certain size, but would not affect those now in private ownership.

It bans the manufacture, sale, possession or importation of new handguns that fail to meet the size criteria. Under its provisions, revolvers less than 5 1/4 inches long, or with barrels less than four inches would be banned, as would pistols less than 8 1/2 inches long.

The administration's "Saturday night special" provision and the Senate version pushed by Sen. Birch Bayh, chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, contain more detailed criteria to define "Saturday night specials."

Rhino Rips Way Around Zoo Building

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The first inhabitant of the Birmingham Zoo's new pachyderm house didn't like it, and as a result there is speculation that the building might have to be redesigned.

The trouble started when officials were unloading one of three white rhinos that arrived Tuesday from the Cincinnati, Ohio, zoo.

The huge beast became agitated and began charging around, tearing down cables and blankets in the building.

Zoo visitors were told to get inside or near buildings in case the rhino broke down barriers and escaped onto the zoo grounds.

A veterinarian subdued the rampaging rhino with a tranquilizer gun, but not before it had bloodied its snout and a hind leg.

The zoo entrance was closed after the mid-afternoon incident. Zoo Director Bob Truett was not available for comment on the extent of damages to the building or the rhino.

And, officials were debating whether to tranquilize the other two rhinos before removing them from their boxes.

Living Will A Legacy To Die

DEAR ABBY: Last year you had something in your column about the Living Will. I'm sorry to say I didn't pay much attention to it then, but I am interested in it now. Exactly what is it? And how can I get one?

I am Jewish. Is it against my religion? Is it "euthanasia" or mercy killing?

DAVID G. IN BOSTON
DEAR DAVID: The Living Will is a document stating that should you fall victim to a terminal illness from which there is no hope for your recovery, you instruct your physician not to prolong your life by artificial means, such as machines, tubes, pumps, etc.

Copies of this document may be given to your physician, clergyman, lawyer and to as many family members and or friends as you desire. To sign such a document, you must be 18 years or older and of sound mind. (If at any time you wish to revoke the document, you are free to do so.)

The Jewish view of the Living Will is as follows: It is NOT "euthanasia" or mercy killing! There is a clear distinction between actively killing a person and "allowing him to die."

According to Jewish Law, when a person suffers irreversible brain damage and can no longer recite a "bracha"—a blessing to praise God—perform a "mitzvah"—an act to help his fellowman—he is considered a "vegetable," and there is nothing to "save." It is thus an act of compassion to spare the family the suffering, anguish and expense of artificially prolonging the breathing and heartbeat when death is inevitable.

The Living Will does not give anyone permission to END the life of another in a "mercy-killing" manner. It is simply a document one signs, stating that he (or she) does not want to have his (or her) life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no hope for recovery.

I have signed such a document. You may get one by writing to The Living Will, 250 West 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019. The document is free, but please send a few dollars (tax deductible) for the cost of printing and mailing the document to you. I sent 15 for six documents and have given one to my physician, clergyman and lawyer, and to member of my family.

ABIGAIL VA BUREN
P.S. I am indebted to Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas, Temple Aaron of St. Paul, Minn., for providing me with the above information on the Jewish view of the right to die with dignity. I have written to my friend, The Reverend Norman Vincent Peale, asking to explain the Protestant view. I have also written to The Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, another friend of long standing, asking for the Catholic view. If they respond, I shall publish their letters.

Data On Parenthood Disturbing

NEW YORK (AP) — If you had it all to do over again, would you have children?

When advice columnist Ann Landers asked her readers this question, 10,000 of them responded, and 70 per cent said: "No."

"The most fascinating (and disturbing) mail I've received in a long time," Miss Landers said in a recent column.

"Granted the negatives have a stronger compulsion to write than the affirmatives," she said later in a telephone interview. "Even so, I was amazed by the number of people who wrote to say that having children isn't worth the trouble."

A number of psychiatrists, equally surprised by the letters, telephoned her to ask what she thought of them, Miss Landers said.

Dr. Harcharan Sehdev, director of the Children's Division of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan., said that the letters appear to reflect "the general changing trends and options of family systems and the place of children in society and the home."

Schools Get State Money

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office distributed a total of $51,881,206.18 to Ohio's 613 school districts for the month of February.

Of that amount, the four school districts in Pickaway County received a total $203,621.40.

Circleville City Schools received $65,465.76; Logan Elm Local, $41,042.71; Teays Valley Local, $54,115.77; Westfall Local, $42,997.16.

But he said it has always been a myth that Americans love their children.

"We like to believe that we love children, adore children, value the world of the future ... but in reality this is hardly the case," he said, citing a history of child abuse, child labor and underfunding of children's aid programs.

A Boston newspaper columnist, Diane White, reacted to the letters, saying: "We seldom or never hear any parents we know speak out against having children, which is perfectly understandable. People don't like to talk about their mistakes."

Miss Landers said her negative mail fell roughly into three categories: letters from older parents whose children ignore them, from younger people concerned about overpopulation, and from people with young children who find parenthood restricts their life-styles.

Among those she ran in her column, Too Late for Tears, the mother of two children under 8 in Tampa, Fla., wrote: "I was an attractive, fulfilling career woman before I had these kids. Now I'm an exhausted, nervous wreck ... Our children took all the romance out of our marriage. I'm too tired for sex, conversation or anything else."

Sad Story in New York, a 70-year-old mother of five, wrote: "Not one of our children has given us any pleasure. God knows we did our best, but we were failures as parents and they are failures as people."

Miss Landers said one reason for the disillusionment may be that some people enter parenthood with unrealistic expectations.

"Everybody wants a cute little baby," she said. "Nobody wants a troublesome 2-year-old who gets into mischief."

And when, she said, "they find they're broke, with unexpected bills, they can't take trips, they're up all night with sick kids, a wreck, cross, unpleasant, tired. They ask themselves: 'Who needs this?'"

Long before the Ohio Company landed at Marietta in 1788, squatters had settled on the west bank of the Ohio River opposite Wheeling, W. Va., on ground now known as Martins Ferry, and they were the vanguards of the so-called legal settlers who followed. Some have likened these early squatters, who also settled elsewhere in Ohio, as the American Vikings, tough, courageous and deserving of a better fame than granted them in most history books.

Goldwater Raps Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today that former President Richard M. Nixon could do the United States a favor by staying in China. He accused Nixon of breaking the law by making statements in Peking about U.S. foreign policy.

Asked if Nixon's trip had any impact on President Ford's performance in the New Hampshire primary, Goldwater said:

"I don't think Mr. Nixon's visit to China did anything and if he wants to do this country a favor he might stay over there. He is violating the law." Goldwater made the statements in an interview on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America."

"The Logan Act prohibits any American — and that's all he is, he's an ex-president and a private citizen — the Logan Act says no one but the President and the secretary of state can discuss foreign policy, and he made a tremendous mistake in doing what he did at the time he did it."

"I don't think it (the trip) hurt Mr. Ford," Goldwater said. "I don't think the average American has enough respect for Mr. Nixon anymore to really believe that what he's doing is in anybody's interest but Mr. Nixon's."

Set Closure Of Probation Loophole

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee says the legislature will act to close an "unfortunate loophole" in Ohio's criminal code which makes convicted murderers eligible for shock probation after 30 days in prison.

"It was not a deliberate policy decision to say that someone who was not eligible for probation or shock parole was eligible for shock probation," said Chairman Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights.

"In working with a major piece of legislation, in fitting the pieces together, we created a structure that had an obvious gap that we didn't fill," Lehman said. "We left out a brick."

"The legislature will act promptly to deal with this unfortunate loophole in the law," he said.

Lehman was reacting to a Supreme Court decision Wednesday holding that persons convicted of aggravated murder, repeat offenders and persons convicted of crimes committed with firearms are eligible for shock probation.

Statutes prohibit those types of criminals from receiving probation or shock parole. But the court in its 5-2 decision said shock probation is not prohibited.

Shock probation is a type of probation in which a convicted felon is sent to prison, then recalled by the court and placed on probation. In theory, the brief exposure to prison deters the criminal from future crime.

Dissenting judges said the exception cited by the majority apparently was an oversight which slipped into law when the new criminal code was adopted in 1974.

an active woman," said Mrs. Green, mother of four children who lost 95 per cent of her sight because of a head injury five years ago. "I was always whipping around the house like a maniac."

"But when I lost my sight I was always bumping into walls."

"It was almost as if God were saying to me 'Connie, slow down.'"

Slowing down has been difficult for Mrs. Green, who has adapted to her "inconvenience" as she terms her blindness by taking up Arabian dancing.

"I'm the only non-Arabian they've let into the local Arabian club," she boasts. Mrs. Green, 38, has started to make her talent of wiggling her belly and dancing pay by performing at local functions and gatherings and teaching her new hobby.

"People ask how I can teach dancing since I can't see what my pupils are doing," she said. "Well, first I have my pupils put their hands on me to feel how I do something. Then, I do the same to them to see if they are doing it right."

"There's nothing you can't do. All you have to do is figure out a way to do it."

Mrs. Green has always lived in a unique way. She spent time in a convent, a year she says neither she or the sisters will ever forget.

"Being quiet was never one of my virtues," she explains. "I tried, but it just didn't work out."

One time, she was caught by the Mother Superior in the convent's dumbwaiter. She was dressed in her habit, smuggling sandwiches out of the kitchen. At other times, she would hike up her habit and run through the convent. Once on a retreat, she set up a roulette wheel "to liven things up."

After leaving the convent, she married an aeronautical engineer, a union which ended in divorce 17 years later. She's uncertain about her financial future, but certain that everything will eventually work itself out.

She is upset that she can no longer see the weather change or "watch the expressions on people's faces as I dance", but looks forward to taking on a host of new activities.

She recently brushed aside warnings and took a solo sled ride down an incline called "Suicide Hill" in her neighborhood. She's learned to roller skate, studied Arabic to complement her dancing, and looks forward to learning to ski.

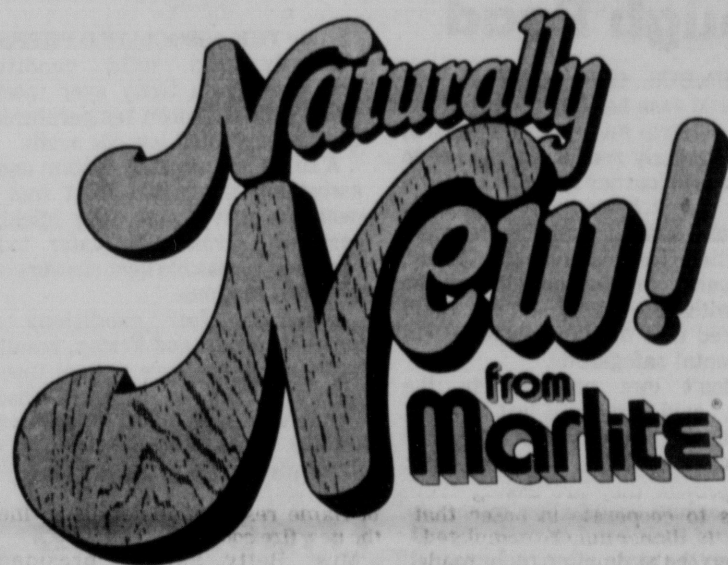

Mrs. Green scoffs at the blind person stereotype. She never uses a cane: "They keep getting caught in the grates of the sidewalks." She keeps threatening to get her guide dog a guide cat whenever he bumps into something.

She has lived past the initial traumas of burning dinners to ashes and brushing her teeth with shaving cream because a child mistakenly moved the toothpaste.

By self-assurance she even has found some positive aspects of her "inconvenience."

"You find people are so different than when you are sighted," she admits. "When you see, you usually see only the physical person. Now I see with my heart and my heart is always smiling."

Goldwater Raps Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today that former President Richard M. Nixon could do the United States a favor by staying in China. He accused Nixon of breaking the law by making statements in Peking about U.S. foreign policy.

Asked if Nixon's trip had any impact on President Ford's performance in the New Hampshire primary, Goldwater said:

"I don't think Mr. Nixon's visit to China did anything and if he wants to do this country a favor he might stay over there. He is violating the law."

Goldwater made the statements in an interview on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America."

"The Logan Act prohibits any American — and that's all he is, he's an ex-president and a private citizen — the Logan Act says no one but the President and the secretary of state can discuss foreign policy, and he made a tremendous mistake in doing what he did at the time he did it."

"I don't think it (the trip) hurt Mr. Ford," Goldwater said. "I don't think the average American has enough respect for Mr. Nixon anymore to really believe that what he's doing is in anybody's interest but Mr. Nixon's."

Rhodes Assistant Lashes Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' executive assistant has fired the latest salvo in the Republican governor's money war with the Democrat-controlled legislature.

Thomas J. Moyer charged in a letter Wednesday, to the chairmen of the Senate and House finance committees, that "some lawmakers" had harassed Rhodes cabinet members and had not been responsive to the financial needs of several departments.

Moyer reiterated in the letter to Senate chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, that the commerce department will have to shut down for three weeks about June 10 unless the legislature restores a $2 million department budget cut.

The governor's assistant was responding to a sharply worded letter from the committee chairman to Rhodes in which they said cabinet members were continually demanding more funds during the current severe budget crunch without saying where it was supposed to come from. At one point in the dispute, Meshel charged Rhodes was unable to handle his executives and suggested the governor resign.

Moyer said that the commerce department sought additional funding because the legislature cut its budget request last summer from $13.6 million to $11.6 million. "To make matters worse, the legislature passed H.B. 728 which increased bank fees, supposedly to help improve the audit capability of the division of banks, but failed to provide the department the funds," he said.

As a result, he said the department has had to lay off 103 employees "and it will be necessary to close the department approximately June 10 for the balance of the fiscal year because of the lack of funds."

Moyer spelled out several recommendations for the lawmakers, including a commerce department appropriation that equals the bank fee increases. He estimated the fees will bring in an additional $1 million a year.

Trident Sub Named Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is naming the first of its new fleet of underwater nuclear missile-firing submarines after the state of Ohio.

The keel for the Trident submarine the Ohio will be laid April 10 in Groton, Conn., Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Wednesday. The 560-foot vessel will weigh 16,800 tons and cost $1.7 billion.

The Ohio is the first of at least 11 Tridents the Navy plans to build. Billed as the underwater striking weapon of the future the Tridents will carry 24 long-range missiles.

The subs are designed to be quieter than any others to help avoid detection. They will be equipped with the latest detection devices, including sonar.

Three other American ships have been named for the state of Ohio: a World War I battleship, a Mexican-American war battleship and a converted merchant schooner that became a fighting ship in the War of 1812.

Congress authorized the construction of another battleship named Ohio in 1942, but the order was canceled the next year.

Mrs. Peron Holds On In Argentina

BUEENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron survived an impeachment vote in Congress Wednesday night by a vote of 129-70, but the split within the Peronist movement widened.

The main opposition party, the Radical Civic Union, joined five small political groups in supporting the impeachment motion, but the ouster effort failed when Peronist legislators who strongly criticized Mrs. Peron earlier backed down.

A group of left-wing congressmen issued a statement saying: "We must not be in too much of a hurry, for even the worst democratic government is better than an unknown quantity."

The labor unions, backbone of the Peronist movement, were silent. Previous threats to Mrs. Peron were greeted by massive demonstrations of support.

Jose Baez, acting leader of the Peronist Ruling Council, announced that he was resigning and said other council members would present their resignations at a party congress March 6.

Informed sources said the three commanders of the armed forces refused an invitation from the president to confer with her. Rumors of an impending military coup continued to circulate.

Union leaders and other dissident Peronists were demanding that Mrs. Peron purge her circle of advisers of all followers of the former minister of social welfare, Jose Lopez Rega, her chief confidant and adviser until union leaders and the military teamed up last summer to drive him into exile.

Mrs. Peron's aides were reported examining the possibility of still another cabinet reshuffle.

Back Curbs On Noise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House has approved noise pollution legislation that would empower county and township governments to regulate automobile and motorcycle exhaust noise.

"It simply grants townships and counties the same power to enact noise ordinances that cities already enjoy," said sponsor Sherrod Brown, D-61 Mansfield, in asking support Wednesday for the measure.

State representatives approved the bill 70-25 and forwarded it to the Senate.

Brown noted that the legislation, while permissive, sets maximum decible standards that could be enforced by localities and stipulates that new ordinances could not be stricter than existing city laws.

It also effectively exempts trucks by providing that standards for commercial vehicles may not be stricter than highway noise regulations.

State To Move On Housing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A long sidetracked program that could put Ohio into the housing business will begin to move slightly today, a state official says.

But William A. Losoncy, executive director of the Ohio Housing Development Board, said the first move is expected to be into the Ohio Supreme Court.

The seven-member board, which supposedly had its powers beefed up by the legislature in 1974, has been largely in a state of flux due to claims that some of those powers are unconstitutional.

In particular, Losoncy said, some attorneys question whether the 1974 law runs afoul of the Ohio Constitution because it would have the state put its faith and credit behind private developers and citizens. Losoncy said he doesn't think this is so.

However, he said the board, scheduled to meet today, planned to adopt resolutions approving four particular projects. Subsequently, he said, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown will go to the Supreme Court with a "friendly" lawsuit to settle the constitutional question once and for all.

Under the board's assumed powers, it would issue revenue bonds to help provide loans and guarantees for housing, mostly for low and moderate income families. The bonds would be retired with rents received once the housing units were occupied.

"These would be revenue bonds, and we don't think they actually involve pledging the state's credit," Losoncy said. However, he said the board has made it a policy that no project will be approved unless they qualify for insurance under Federal Housing Administration programs. "This will give the projects a federal guarantee," he said.

The board remained inactive through most of last year as Gov. James A. Rhodes promoted a four-part ballot package that included an amendment letting the state guarantee loans and make grants for public housing projects. However, that amendment and three others in Rhodes' package were defeated overwhelmingly by Ohio voters.

Thus far, the housing board has received about $2.3 million in federal housing funds. Losoncy said those funds have been used to help in the construction of about 700 housing units statewide. He predicted the board's powers will finally be cleared by the courts and added: "We're ready to move now."

Strip Mine Bill Faces Rough Road

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill that would ease bonding requirements placed on strip miners to insure that land is properly reclaimed has begun an uncertain journey in the legislature.

After a first hearing Wednesday in the House Energy and Environment Committee, Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Boardman, the sponsor, said he would withdraw his support if it could be proved that the bill weakened environmental safeguards.

"I don't owe anything to the miners," said Carney. "I just feel that if there are some things that are counterproductive, let's correct them."

The measure would allow miners to get most of their bond or cash deposit back from the state after reclamation of one-third of the land mined is completed. It would also soften the penalty for a third violation of the Ohio Strip Mine Reclamation Law.

Current law requires strip mine operators to make a deposit with the state equal to the estimated cost of restoring stripped land. Half of the deposit is returned when all reclamation is completed, except planting. The remainder is released when the planting is finished.

Carney's bill would permit three-fourths of the deposit to be returned when one-third of the work is done.

NCR Cuts Staff To Boost Profits

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — NCR Corp. officials have announced staff cutbacks involving 305 white collar workers at the firm's local corporate and marketing headquarters.

The employees, mostly managerial, with some clerical workers, are being let go as a result of a corporatewide program, NCR officials said.

The affected workers—about 9 per cent of the total 3,300 white collar work force began receiving their notices several weeks ago. A spokesman said it would probably take several months before the cuts are completed.

Rhodes Assistant Lashes Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' executive assistant has fired the latest salvo in the Republican governor's money war with the Democrat-controlled legislature.

Thomas J. Moyer charged in a letter Wednesday, to the chairmen of the Senate and House finance committees, that "some lawmakers" had harassed Rhodes cabinet members and had not been responsive to the financial needs of several departments.

Moyer reiterated in the letter to Senate chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, that the commerce department will have to shut down for three weeks about June 10 unless the legislature restores a $2 million department budget cut.

The governor's assistant was responding to a sharply worded letter from the committee chairman to Rhodes in which they said cabinet members were continually demanding more funds during the current severe budget crunch without saying where it was supposed to come from. At one point in the dispute, Meshel charged Rhodes was unable to handle his executives and suggested the governor resign.

Moyer said that the commerce department sought additional funding because the legislature cut its budget request last summer from $13.6 million to $11.6 million. "To make matters worse, the legislature passed H.B. 728 which increased bank fees, supposedly to help improve the audit capability of the division of banks, but failed to provide the department the funds," he said.

As a result, he said the department has had to lay off 103 employees "and it will be necessary to close the department approximately June 10 for the balance of the fiscal year because of the lack of funds."

Moyer spelled out several recommendations for the lawmakers, including a commerce department appropriation that equals the bank fee increases. He estimated the fees will bring in an additional $1 million a year.

Trident Sub Named Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy is naming the first of its new fleet of underwater nuclear missile-firing submarines after the state of Ohio.

The keel for the Trident submarine the Ohio will be laid April 10 in Groton, Conn., Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said Wednesday. The 560-foot vessel will weigh 16,800 tons and cost $1.7 billion.

The Ohio is the first of at least 11 Tridents the Navy plans to build. Billed as the underwater striking weapon of the future the Tridents will carry 24 long-range missiles.

The subs are designed to be quieter than any others to help avoid detection. They will be equipped with the latest detection devices, including sonar.

Three other American ships have been named for the state of Ohio: a World War I battleship, a Mexican-American war battleship and a converted merchant schooner that became a fighting ship in the War of 1812.

Congress authorized the construction of another battleship named Ohio in 1942, but the order was canceled the next year.

Mrs. Peron Holds On In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron survived an impeachment vote in Congress Wednesday night by a vote of 120-70, but the split within the Peronist movement widened.

The main opposition party, the Radical Civic Union, joined five small political groups in supporting the impeachment motion, but the ouster effort failed when Peronist legislators who strongly criticized Mrs. Peron earlier backed down.

A group of left-wing congressmen issued a statement saying: "We must not be in too much of a hurry, for even the worst democratic government is better than an unknown quantity."

The labor unions, backbone of the Peronist movement, were silent. Previous threats to Mrs. Peron were greeted by massive demonstrations of support.

Jose Baez, acting leader of the Peronist Ruling Council, announced that he was resigning and said other council members would present their resignations at a party congress March 6.

Informed sources said the three commanders of the armed forces refused an invitation from the president to confer with her. Rumors of an impending military coup continued to circulate.

Union leaders and other dissident Peronists were demanding that Mrs. Peron purge her circle of advisers of all followers of the former minister of social welfare, Jose Lopez Rega, her chief confidant and adviser until union leaders and the military teamed up last summer to drive him into exile.

Mrs. Peron's aides were reported examining the possibility of still another cabinet reshuffle.

Back Curbs On Noise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House has approved noise pollution legislation that would empower county and township governments to regulate automobile and motorcycle exhaust noise.

"It simply grants townships and counties the same power to enact noise ordinances that cities already enjoy," said sponsor Sherrod Brown, D-61 Mansfield, in asking support Wednesday for the measure.

State representatives approved the bill 70-25 and forwarded it to the Senate.

Brown noted that the legislation, while permissive, sets maximum decibel standards that could be enforced by localities and stipulates that new ordinances could not be stricter than existing city laws.

It also effectively exempts trucks by providing that standards for commercial vehicles may not be stricter than highway noise regulations.

State To Move On Housing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A long sidetracked program that could put Ohio into the housing business will begin to move slightly today, a state official says.

But William A. Losoncy, executive director of the Ohio Housing Development Board, said the first move is expected to be into the Ohio Supreme Court.

The seven-member board, which supposedly had its powers beefed up by the legislature in 1974, has been largely in a state of flux due to claims that some of those powers are unconstitutional.

In particular, Losoncy said, some attorneys question whether the 1974 law runs afoul of the Ohio Constitution because it would have the state put its faith and credit behind private developers and citizens. Losoncy said he doesn't think this is so.

However, he said the board, scheduled to meet today, planned to adopt resolutions approving four particular projects. Subsequently, he said, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown will go to the Supreme Court with a "friendly" lawsuit to settle the constitutional question once and for all.

Under the board's assumed powers, it would issue revenue bonds to help provide loans and guarantees for housing, mostly for low and moderate income families. The bonds would be retired with rents received once the housing units were occupied.

"These would be revenue bonds, and we don't think they actually involve pledging the state's credit," Losoncy said. However, he said the board has made it a policy that no project will be approved unless they qualify for insurance under Federal Housing Administration programs. "This will give the projects a federal guarantee," he said.

The board remained inactive through most of last year as Gov. James A. Rhodes promoted a four-part ballot package that included an amendment letting the state guarantee loans and make grants for public housing projects. However, that amendment and three others in Rhodes' package were defeated overwhelmingly by Ohio voters.

Thus far, the housing board has received about $2.3 million in federal housing funds. Losoncy said those funds have been used to help in the construction of about 700 housing units statewide. He predicted the board's powers will finally be cleared by the courts and added: "We're ready to move now."

Sharing Corner

Back around Christmas time I tried a new cake recipe and everyone who had a taste of it really thought it was delicious so I had every intention of sharing but you all know how addle brained I often times become and I forgot all about the recipe until I had a request for it this past weekend and it gave me the urge to bake it again which I did and shared with neighbors and friends.

Now I am remembering to pass it along. By the way, I am not too fond of the cake myself but perhaps it is because of my political affiliation in response to the name of the cake which is "Watergate Cake with Cover Up Icing."

1 pkg. white or yellow cake mix
1 pkg. instant pistachio pudding
¾ cup cooking oil
3 eggs
1 cup club soda
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup coconut
Mix together well. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 12 pan. Bake 325 degrees — 40-50 min.
2 envelopes Dream Whip
1 pkg. instant pistachio pudding
1½ cups cold milk.

Have bowl and beaters really cold. Beat together milk and Dream Whip until stiffens. Add pudding and beat well. Spread on cooled cake. May sprinkle with nuts and coconut if desired. Refrigerate.

Polle and Bill Buskirk and daughters Gina and Vicki and son Billy were happy to have a get together with good friends, the Rev. Lyle and Maxine Bainter and four children this past Sunday. The Sunday dinner guests are associated with the North High Street Church of Christ in Christian Union in my old hometown of Chillicothe.

If there seems to be a wee bit of an accent in the speech of Bob and Margaret Barnes it is because they have just returned from a terrific vacation down Puerto Rico way. The Barnes family lived in Puerto Rico several years ago and the recent trip was an exciting adventure for them back into the past.

Heart Sunday

This coming Sunday has been designated Heart Fund Sunday and our young people will be going door to door collecting the generous contributions always given by our townspeople.

Serving as volunteers will be Brian Wisecup, Amy Easterday, Sheryl Cox, Faith Ann Picklesimer, Kelly McCafferty, Dena Galloway, Lori Metzger, Teresa Stonerock, Kim McCafferty, Shara Valentine, Brenda Galloway, Becky Stonerock, Carla Edmond, Joy Bidwell, Julie Edmond, Mark Edmond, Vicki Buskirk, Kristi Lane and Debbie Rigby.

In the township the volunteers canvassing will be Marabel and Connie Drummond, Norma and Barbara Mace, Janie and Tina Cottrill, Dolly, Shirley and Vicki Thompson, Linda Moore and Pearl Cokenour.

Always and ever on the alert for interesting ideas for her class is fourth grade teacher Judy Riethmiller and just recently she had Miss Dhel Renick as a resource person to come to her classroom and show the students how candles were made in pioneer days.

Miss Renick deserves all the plaudits in the world for her generous giving of herself to others. She is a retired Jackson school teacher whose students consider it a real privilege to have had her for a teacher. When you really think about it we are indeed fortunate to have many fine teachers in our Westfall School District.

A communique from Westfall High School's thoughtful secretary Pat Metzger brings the message that March 18 will be an evening well worth looking forward to because the band and chorus will feature a musical program entitled "America" which will give us a look at our nation through music and historical displays.

The tour of America's musical past will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Also featured will be a variety of early American displays by student clubs and any interested community organizations of the Westfall School District. These displays will be for viewing between the hour of 6:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria area.

Any group or club interested in entering a display is encouraged to make immediate contact with Principal Robert Debo at the high school or call the school office 986-2911 to make necessary arrangements. All display plans must be entered by March 1.

During the school day on March 18 the students will be celebrating the bicentennial by dressing in the fashions of 1776. They are eagerly anticipating this journey into yesteryear.

I might remind all those who dress in bicentennial costume to remember the contest to be held during the Deer-

Metzenbaum Aide Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, has been named campaign chairman of former U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum's bid to return to the Senate.

Metzenbaum announced the appointment Wednesday at a news conference held jointly with Sen. Valiquette.

He said he was "not only pleased but exceptionally flattered" to have the senator as his campaign chairman, while Sen. Valiquette said she has long admired Metzenbaum both as a legislator and a friend.

Sen. Valiquette is chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Metzenbaum also said Wednesday he will limit his personal spending in the campaign to $35,000, the limit imposed by a federal law which recently was struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Well, I didn't take home any prizes from Legion bingo on Monday evening but I surely had a good time trying to get at least one win. Came doggone close but that Dolly Thompson got it just ahead of me.

The crowd was good but could have been better so come on folks mark the calendar now for the second Monday of March and let's fill that Legion hall to capacity.

Boy, would that ever make the Legionnaires have a thrill clear to their toes and for all the good deeds they do for the community it is time we gave them 100 per cent support.

Alice Cornwell is home from a stint at Berger Hospital and wishes to thank all those who were so considerate as to remember her with cards, flowers and other expressions of kindness.

Be with you again next week, the Lord willing. Take care.

This message is vitally important for all persons 18 and over so please read and heed. It is urged that anyone age 35 and over, all those who are overweight, all those who have a blood relative with a diabetic history and all mothers whose babies had a birth weight of 9 pounds or more should especially avail themselves of this opportunity to be checked.

Volunteers to man the registration are being sought and any reader so interested please phone me at 986-3481 before coming Monday. If for some reason a person just simply cannot take advantage of the clinic during the hours in our village please watch the Herald for announcement of other locations and times.

The Kiwanis has as a project, a campaign to detect those with blood pressure problems and so a free check-up can be yours just by stopping at the EMR station on West Main Street in Circleville.

Sharing Corner

Back around Christmas time I tried a new cake recipe and everyone who had a taste of it really thought it was delicious so I had every intention of sharing but you all know how addie brained I often times become and I forgot all about the recipe until I had a request for it this past weekend and it gave me the urge to bake it again which I did and shared with neighbors and friends.

Now I am remembering to pass it along. By the way, I am not too fond of the cake myself but perhaps it is because of my political affiliation in response to the name of the cake which is "Watergate Cake with Cover Up Icing."

1 pkg. white or yellow cake mix
1 pkg. instant pistachio pudding
¾ cup cooking oil
3 eggs
1 cup club soda
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup coconut
Mix together well. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 12 pan. Bake 325 degrees — 40-50 min.

2 envelopes Dream Whip
1 pkg. instant pistachio pudding
1½ cups cold milk.

Have bowl and beaters really cold. Beat together milk and Dream Whip until stiffens. Add pudding and beat well. Spread on cooled cake. May sprinkle with nuts and coconut if desired. Refrigerate.

Pollie and Bill Buskirk and daughters Gina and Vicki and son Billy were happy to have a get together with good friends, the Rev. Lyle and Maxine Bainter and four children this past Sunday. The Sunday dinner guests are associated with the North High Street Church of Christ in Christian Union in my old hometown of Chillicothe.

If there seems to be a wee bit of an accent in the speech of Bob and Margaret Barnes it is because they have just returned from a terrific vacation down Puerto Rico way. The Barnes family lived in Puerto Rico several years ago and the recent trip was an exciting adventure for them back into the past.

Heart Sunday

This coming Sunday has been designated Heart Fund Sunday and our young people will be going door to door collecting the generous contributions always given by our townspeople.

Serving as volunteers will be Brian Wisecup, Amy Easterday, Sheryl Cox, Faith Ann Picklesimer, Kelly McCafferty, Dena Galloway, Lori Metzger, Teresa Stonerock, Kim McCafferty, Shara Valentine, Brenda Galloway, Becky Stonerock, Carla Edmond, Joy Bidwell, Julie Edmond, Mark Edmond, Vicki Buskirk, Kristi Lane and Debbie Rigbsy.

In the township the volunteers canvassing will be Marabel and Connie Drummond, Norma and Barbara Mace, Janie and Tina Cottrill, Dolly, Shirley and Vicki Thompson, Linda Moore and Pearl Cockenour.

By the way, how many are aware that our nice guy principal is also His Honor the Mayor at Mt. Sterling? Newly elected in November. Super!!

Always and ever on the alert for interesting ideas for her class is fourth grade teacher Judy Riethmiller and just recently she had Miss Dhel Renick as a resource person to come to her classroom and show the students how candles were made in pioneer days.

Miss Renick deserves all the plaudits in the world for her generous giving of herself to others. She is a retired Jackson school teacher whose students consider it a real privilege to have had her for a teacher. When you really think about it we are indeed fortunate to have many fine teachers in our Westfall School District.

A communique from Westfall High School's thoughtful secretary Pat Metzger brings the message that March 18 will be an evening well worth looking forward to because the band and chorus will feature a musical program entitled "America" which will give us a look at our nation through music and historical displays.

The tour of America's musical past will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Also featured will be a variety of early American displays by student clubs and any interested community organizations of the Westfall School District. These displays will be for viewing between the hour of 6:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria area.

Any group or club interested in entering a display is encouraged to make immediate contact with Principal Robert Debo at the high school or call the school office 986-2911 to make necessary arrangements. All display plans must be entered by March 1.

During the school day on March 18 the students will be celebrating the bicentennial by dressing in the fashions of 1776. They are eagerly anticipating this journey into yesteryear.

I might remind all those who dress in bicentennial costume to remember the contest to be held during the Deer-

Metzenbaum Aide Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, has been named campaign chairman of former U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum's bid to return to the Senate.

Metzenbaum announced the appointment Wednesday at a news conference held jointly with Sen. Valiquette.

He said he was "not only pleased but exceptionally flattered" to have the senator as his campaign chairman, while Sen. Valiquette said she has long admired Metzenbaum both as a legislator and a friend.

Sen. Valiquette is chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Metzenbaum also said Wednesday he will limit his personal spending in the campaign to $35,000, the limit imposed by a federal law which recently was struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

creek Dam Days Festival and to be sure and enter at that time, too.

Well, I didn't take home any prizes from Legion bingo on Monday evening but I surely had a good time trying to get at least one win. Came doggone close but that Dolly Thompson got it just ahead of me.

The crowd was good but could have been better so come on folks mark the calendar now for the second Monday of March and let's fill that Legion hall to capacity.

Boy, would that ever make the Legionnaires have a thrill clear to their toes and for all the good deeds they do for the community it is time we gave them 100 per cent support.

Patty Not Lying, Medic Tells Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A psychiatric portrait of Patricia Hearst depicts her as a politically naive "creature of the surface" who experimented with drugs as a curious, restive teen-ager and made no effort to deceive mind-probing experts after her underground odyssey.

"Miss Hearst really simply didn't lie," said Dr. Martin Orne, a University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist who specializes in detecting simulated stories. He testified for the defense Wednesday at the newspaper heiress' trial for bank robbery.

Orne's statement drew a sharp reprimand from U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter who, acting on a prosecution objection, told the jurors that such a comment was "an invasion of your province."

Orne, hired by defense attorney F. Lee Bailey to examine Miss Hearst, was scheduled to resume his testimony today.

Earlier, Dr. L.J. West testified there was "no way" Miss Hearst could have faked her responses to an extensive battery of tests and interviews designed to determine the authenticity of her story.

West, one of three psychiatrists appointed by the court to determine Miss Hearst's competence to stand trial, also conducted further tests and testified for the defense.

The other two court-appointed psychiatrists have not testified.

When Orne flatly affirmed the truth of Miss Hearst's account to

Steelworkers Accept Contract

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A long strike by steelworkers at three National Lime and Stone Co. plants has ended. Workers voted Tuesday to end return to plants in Carey, Marion and Bucyrus.

The walkouts began Dec. 1 when the old contracts expired.

The steelworkers accepted three-year contracts offering a 9 per cent pay increase and fringe benefits.

Walkouts were continuing at National Lime and Stone plants in Lima, Delaware, Buckland, and at the company headquarters in Findlay. Workers at those four plants are represented by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Don't Back Ford Yet, Ohio GOP Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Calling the Ohio Republican Party endorsement of President Ford "premature and ill-advised," a conservative state legislator has urged party officials to brake their bandwagon for Ford.

In a letter to GOP county chairmen and chairwomen, Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura, said Wednesday Republicans should take a "wait and see" attitude until the March 25 filing deadline for Ohio's June 8 primary.

Netzley, an ardent supporter of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said that key primaries in Massachusetts, Illinois and Florida would give a "general idea of the direction of the party nationally."

The state party organization has endorsed Ford and is encouraging party stalwarts to line up delegates for the President at district meetings planned over the next several weeks.

"Apparently," Netzley wrote, "the state committee expects the county organizations to follow their lead, without evaluating the current political realities, and make the same premature decision which may likely explode into a major political disaster."

Netzley, who serves as Miami County Republican Chairman, exhorted other county leaders to resist "the sudden drift of the Ohio Republican Party into the Ford camp" at the upcoming district meetings.

"Let's face it," he added, "the way we are presently headed could make us look foolish in Ohio as well as nationally."

Pledged to Ford, Netzley said Ohio Republicans "could end up as Gov. Gilligan did in 1972 when he was pledged to Edmund Muskie who didn't elect any delegates in Ohio."

"County chairmen, county chairwomen, and state Republican leaders should not take the chance of emulating Gilligan."

Meanwhile, the unofficial co-chairman of Reagan's Ohio campaign, Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Midletown, said he had not received word on whether Reagan plans to enter the Ohio primary.

Lukens said he had some concern that Reagan's campaign strategists might decide to "Pennsylvania us." Reagan has indicated he will not enter the Pennsylvania primary.

Don't Back Ford Yet, Ohio GOP Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Calling the Ohio Republican Party endorsement of President Ford "premature and ill-advised," a conservative state legislator has urged party officials to brake their bandwagon for Ford.

In a letter to GOP county chairmen and chairwomen, Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura, said Wednesday Republicans should take a "wait and see" attitude until the March 25 filing deadline for Ohio's June 8 primary.

Netzley, an ardent supporter of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said that key primaries in Massachusetts, Illinois and Florida would give a "general idea of the direction of the party nationally."

The state party organization has endorsed Ford and is encouraging party stalwarts to line up delegates for the President at district meetings planned over the next several weeks.

"Apparently," Netzley wrote, "the state committee expects the county organizations to follow their lead, without evaluating the current political realities, and make the same premature decision which may likely explode into a major political disaster."

Netzley, who serves as Miami County Republican Chairman, exhorted other county leaders to resist "the sudden drift of the Ohio Republican Party into the Ford camp" at the upcoming district meetings.

"Let's face it," he added, "the way we are presently headed could make us look foolish in Ohio as well as nationally."

Pledged to Ford, Netzley said Ohio Republicans "could end up as Gov. Gilligan did in 1972 when he was pledged to Edmund Muskie who didn't elect any delegates in Ohio."

"County chairmen, county chairwomen, and state Republican leaders should not take the chance of emulating Gilligan."

Meanwhile, the unofficial co-chairman of Reagan's Ohio campaign, Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he had not received word on whether Reagan plans to enter the Ohio primary.

Lukens said he had some concern that Reagan's campaign strategists might decide to "Pennsylvania us." Reagan has indicated he will not enter the Pennsylvania primary.

New Air Controller Radar Dangerous?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sophisticated computers designed to improve the safety of air transportation could also pose a new danger by reducing oral communication between air traffic controllers and pilots, federal safety investigators say.

The National Transportation Safety Board made the statement Wednesday in saying that a near-collision of two jumbo jets three months ago occurred because a ground-based air traffic controller became distracted and failed to keep the airplanes separated.

Three passengers were injured seriously and 21 injured slightly on Nov. 26 when the pilot of an American Airlines jet put his aircraft into a sharp dive seven miles above Lake Michigan to avoid hitting a Trans World Airlines jet.

The American pilot later said he passed within 100 feet of the TWA plane. More than 300 persons were aboard the two jumbo jets.

The board said the air traffic controller at the Federal Aviation Administration's Cleveland control center was working with an advanced radar system that gave him the altitude of each aircraft on his scope.

The board said the controller noticed well in advance of the incident that the two planes might be on a collision course but said he decided to see if the conflict resolved itself instead of taking steps to alter the course of one of the planes.

However, the controller then became distracted with other duties and failed to watch the two aircraft. He also failed to inform a second controller who relieved him that the two planes might need watching.

The near collision was avoided when the second controller, making a routine scan of his radar scope, noticed

FEC Loses Powers Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission will lose most of its powers next week, including its authority to dole out campaign money to presidential candidates, unless the Supreme Court agrees to extend its life.

Any chance that Congress would come to the rescue of the commission before the court's Sunday night deadline ended Wednesday when Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, put off any further House action until next week.

A commission spokesman said members of the panel, which meets today, have discussed the possibility of asking the high court to extend its deadline, but they have not decided whether to do so.

"Perhaps Congress or a candidate should be the one to ask," said FEC spokesman David H. Fiske.

The Supreme Court said Congress violated the constitutional principle of separation of powers when it gave itself the authority to appoint a majority of the members of the FEC.

In its ruling, the court permitted the commission to continue exercising its authority, including disbursing federal matching campaign funds, until March 1 to give Congress a chance to amend the law to give the President the power to name all members of the panel.

Hays is chairman of the House Administration Committee, which is considering a bill that would make the change demanded by the court.

But Hays, until recently a leading congressional opponent of the FEC, decided to postpone further action on the bill until Monday.

the two planes heading for each other and ordered the American pilot to immediately descend.

The board said that if the controller had been working with the older, less-advanced radarscopes, he would have had to take immediate action to separate the planes when he first noticed a possible conflict.

"However ... the automatic altitude readouts (produced by the more sophisticated equipment) ... induced him to rely solely on his own observation of the ... data," the board found.

"He did not consider the possibility that he might become distracted or that the computer might fail, and thereby deprive him of his direct readout capability," it said. The incident shows "that automation technology can lead to complacency when it takes the controller 'out of the loop' by reducing the need for his interaction with a flight crew and deemphasizing the cooperative aspects of the air traffic system," the board added.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senators completed passage 31-0 today of an emergency appropriations bill that would enable Ohio's newest medical school to open doors to students in September.

The measure appropriates $3.78 million from capital improvements funds for remodeling of an existing building on the Ohio University campus to house the newly created OU College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, said the school, created by a 1975 act of the legislature, plans to receive 24 students in September, contingent upon its accreditation late next month.

In other action on Wednesday, House Republicans joined Democrats to override Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of a GOP-sponsored bill, handing the Republican governor his second legislative defeat in two days.

Oil Wells To Predict Quakes?

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — In 10 to 15 years, scientists using data from newly drilled oil wells should be able to predict earthquakes as readily as meteorologists forecast the weather.

Working with a grant from the U.S. Geological Survey, Ohio University Prof. Robert S. Yeats is mapping faults three miles below the surface in California's San Fernando Valley.

A former geologist in the petroleum industry, Yeats cooperates with oil companies to obtain characteristics of rock formations along the shafts of freshly drilled wells. He uses the information to tell more about active faults which might cause tremors.

Anticrime Plan Pushed By Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes opened a campaign today to combat crime in the state as the Ohio Crime Prevention Conference began.

"Our aim is to involve every citizen in the fight against crime, which continues to grow at a fast pace in Ohio," said Rhodes, in remarks prepared for the conference.

The conference was called to bring citizens, representatives of law enforcement and public officials together to focus on the philosophy of crime prevention and to illustrate how state and local governments and citizens can cooperate to prevent and reduce crime in Ohio.

"Crime is a symptom of deeper economic and social ills in Ohio, and it will not be reduced until we can provide jobs and opportunity for all our people," Rhodes said. "But there is a lot we can do to make crime more difficult for the criminal in Ohio."

Rhodes cited statistics that one out of 60 Ohioans is a victim of serious crime each year.

He said up to $1 million of federal crime fighting funds will be used to organize neighborhood crimewatch projects, and other anticrime programs involving citizens.

"Crime prevention really means a good citizen taking care of himself and his neighbor," he said.

In return, the companies may use Yeats' reports to help pinpoint additional supplies of oil.

Prediction depends on sophisticated machinery, the professor said, and the United States is far ahead of Central America in that area.

"The United States would be in a much better position to detect unusual earth movements because we have so much instrumentation, especially in the high risk area along the California faults," Yeats said.

The object is to see earthquakes coming in time to move people, he said.

Scientists are pouring into Guatemala to monitor aftershocks of the earthquake which authorities there believe killed 19,000 persons.

Although scientists can tell when a fault in California is moving abnormally, they can't always tell when and where an earthquake will occur. Scientists successfully predicted a small earthquake felt south of San Francisco on Thanksgiving Day 1974, but a prediction last year proved false.

Yeats said scientists were right about when the second tremor would occur but were far off the mark on the location. "We are just in the process of learning what underground changes mean," he said.

A U.S. Geological Survey team that toured China in 1974 was impressed by instrumentation there and by the care taken by observers in Chinese seismographic stations.

The Chinese reported predicting two quakes in the last 10 years in time to move populations away from collapsing buildings, the major cause of deaths in earthquakes, Yeats said.

Earthquake monitoring has improved greatly in the last few years, he added. The network of seismographic stations circling the globe was installed during work on the nuclear test ban treaties, mainly by the United States which wanted to be sure the Soviets weren't cheating, he said.

Escape Artist Caught Again

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Oregon city jail escape artist Mark Pollock was returned to custody early today following his leavetaking Wednesday afternoon.

Pollock, whose five previous escapes from the suburban community's jail caused a shakeup in police ranks last year, was found still handcuffed and chained in a Toledo alley.

Local Schools Ready For Opening Tourney Action Friday

It will be tournament time for all four county schools Friday night when they open play in the AA Central District Sectionals at Grove City and Westland High Schools.

Tiger Girls Defeat Logan Elm, 48-43

UP IN THE AIR — Circleville's Natalie Martin (24) attempts to block a shot by an unidentified Logan Elm cager. Watching the action for the Tigers are Sue Stevenson (42) and Darla Hughes (34). Circleville won the contest 48-43.

Circleville' girls cage squad ran its season record to 10-1 with a 48-43 win over Logan Elm Wednesday night on the Braves' court.

The Braves grabbed a lead in the first quarter but the Tigers battled back to gain a 6-6 tie at the buzzer.

Circleville never trailed again as the Tigers led 26-17 at halftime and 40-29 at the third period buzzer.

It was a tough loss for the Braves of coach Kathi Thompson as they battled back in the final canto but never could quite close the gap.

Coach Joy O'Brien of Circleville went to her bench with four minutes to go in the contest and all the Tigers saw action.

Sue Stevenson led Circleville with 12 points, Darla Hughes and Natalie Martin each had 10, Sue Crist hooped eight while Lisa Leahy and Wanda Boyd each had four.

Terri Ebert was tops for Logan Elm with 16 points, Diane Martin netted 13, Beth Bell tallied eight while Abby Rife and Anette Roof all had three.

Logan Elm won the battle of the boards with Diane Martin and Beth Bell being the big rebounders. Sue Stevenson, Darla Hughes and Natalie Martin were tops for Circleville.

The Tigers hit 24 of 59 from the floor for 41 per cent but were cut off at the foul line with none of seven.

Logan Elm was 20 of 72 from the field for 28 per cent and converted three of 13 from the foul line for 23 per cent.

Circleville committed 25 turnovers while the Braves had 29.

"Sue Stevenson and Lisa Leahy both played fine defensive games with some good blocks and steals," coach O'Brien stated. "It was a good overall team effort after coming off our first loss of the season."

Circleville's reserves are now 10-0 after downing the Braves 32-22.

The Tigers led all the way, 12-6, 18-12 and 26-20.

Sue Frericks led Circleville with 12 points, Mary Wyatt and Kathy Fanale both had six, Melissa Allison netted four while Michelle Nolan and Tammy Merrill each had two.

Diane Weaver was high for Logan Elm with 10 points, Holly Riddle had six, Lelia Brown rallied four and Ronna Parker had two.

Circleville will end regular season play 6:30 p.m. Monday when they host Lancaster.

faced some narrow decisions against top flight competition. They dropped a 7-40 contest to third seeded Bexley Saturday on the Lions' home court.

The game is to be played at Westland High School. It was originally scheduled for 7 p.m. but has been moved up to 6 p.m. with the doors opening at 5 p.m. The gym will be cleared before the St. Charles Wehrle game which follows. Anyone wishing to see the second game must buy another ticket.

Logan Elm (12-6) will meet Westfall (12-6) in the opening game at Grove City. They were scheduled for 7 p.m. but the game has been moved up to 6 p.m.

The Circleville (17-1) game with Lakewood (13-5) has been moved back one-half hour and will start at 9 p.m. The gym will be cleared after the Logan Elm-Westfall game and anyone wishing to see the Circleville game will have to purchase another ticket.

Coach Bob Hoovers' Vikings are averaging 70.5 points a game while giving up 68.7 defensively.

Jeff Cauger is top scorer for the Blue and Gold with an 18.2 average. Tim Tosca is hitting 11.4 and Dave Schiff is getting 10.6.

Other help for the Vikings comes from Terry Trego, Tim Tosca, Ranie Wohnhas, Mike Johnson, Charles Morrison, Mark Messick, Jeff Voss and Rusty Rathburn.

The Westfall-Logan Elm clash promises to be a real battle and provide the fans with plenty of action.

Coach Asa Bradbury's Braves are putting 65.1 points per game on the board while allowing the opposition 59.0.

Jeff Reichelderfer leads the Braves with 17.3 points per game, Chuck Cave is getting 10.8 and Mike Miller is hitting 10.

Also coming through with fine work for Logan Elm are Scott Allen, Mark Skinner, Steve Rawlins, Randy Pontius, Lonnie Maxson, Dave Dean

Circleville's and Logan Elms' wrestling team will open action in the Sectional Tournament at Wattersson High School.

Action begins 5 p.m. Friday and resumes at noon Saturday with the finals set for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Teams in the Wattersson Sectional are: Bexley, Fairfield Union, Grandview, Grandville, Licking Valley, Madison Plains, Mifflin, Pickerington, Ready, DeSales, Utica, Watkins Memorial, Logan Elm and Wattersson.

The top four wrestlers in each division will qualify for the District at Buckeye Valley Mar. 6.

Logan Elm Reserves Have Good Season

The Logan Elm High School reserve basketball team completed its season with a 12-6 overall record and a 9-5 mark in the Mid State League.

Two of the wins by the Braves were against Mid State reserve champion Amanda-Clearcreek, and two of the losses were in overtime. "If we could have turned our two overtime losses into victories, we would definitely have shared the league title," according to reserve coach Nick Damopoulos.

In reviewing his squad, Damopoulos singled out Jeff Collins and Jerry Scanlon as the team's most consistent players, Doug Woods as "providing a great deal of floor confidence" and Todd Young as a "pleasant surprise as the season progressed."

Collins was the leading scorer on the squad with a 10.05 point per game average. Scanlon averaged eight points per game, Tony Crist 6.55 per game, Mike Patrick 4.38 per game, Doug Woods eight per game, Rock Huggins 3.72 per game, Lynn Strehle 4.13 per game and Young 3.07 per game.

Huggins was the leading rebounder with a 5.5 per game average, Woods had a 4.8 per game average and Scanlon a 3.8 per game average.

Collins, in addition to leading the scoring led the team in assists with an average of 2.3 per game.

and Randy Strous.

Kevin Reid leads the Mustang scoring with 14.3, Chris Riddle is hitting for 11.9 and Terry Hanson is adding 8.1 per game.

Adding power to the Mustangs are John Schleich, Neil Keller, Bill Hamman, Bill Evans, Jeff Karshner, Larry Bilek, John Long, Mack Dick and Eric Schleich.

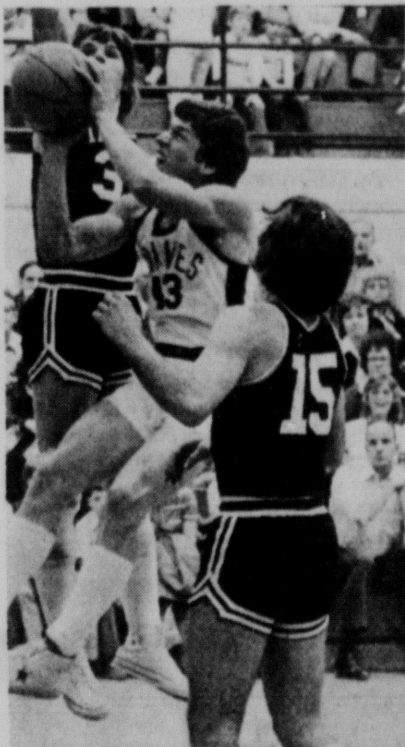

Lakewood is a big team who likes to take advantage of the fast break. They will go with a 1-4 offense with the posts and wings all low but not stacked.

On defense, they play a full court 1-2-1, 2-2-1 and man to man.

Playing for the Lancers will be: Todd Yoho, 5-foot-9; Jay Davission, 6-foot-2; Jim Noonan, 6-foot-6; Greg Framke, 6-foot-1; Casey Milligan, 5-foot-10; Hank Richter, 6-foot-3; and Lonnie Watson, 5-foot-11.

Circleville is racking up 66.5 points a game while the stingy Tiger defense is holding the opposition to 51.5.

Sonics Bop Buffalo; Win 126-94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jack Ramsay was ready to hit the referees with his bench, but not quite mad enough to tap his wallet for $1,000.

Ramsay complained vociferously that the Seattle SuperSonics were playing an illegal zone defense against his Buffalo Braves. But when it came time to decide whether he would file an official protest and give up $1,000 for the privilege, well, that was another matter.

"As poorly as we played, I don't know what benefit it would be to lodge a protest," Ramsay said after a 126-94 beating by the SuperSonics. "We got beaten so badly . . ."

It didn't keep him from talking about Seattle's defensive tactics, however.

"The refs didn't call a zone that was obviously being played," the Buffalo coach said. "I couldn't believe they wouldn't acknowledge it during the game. Anyone who knows basketball and is watching knows Seattle played a zone."

Seattle Coach Bill Russell was noncommittal on the subject.

"I've got nothing to say about that," he said. "That's between him and the referees."

Actually, it wasn't the alleged zone defense that hurt the Braves, but a couple of highpowered performances by Fred Brown and Tom Burleson. Brown scored 31 points and Burleson had 29 points and 17 rebounds.

Elsewhere, the Boston Celtics nipped the Houston Rockets 103-102, the Cleveland Cavaliers stopped the Detroit Pistons 108-101 and the New Orleans Jazz outscored the Washington Bullets 105-104.

Local Schools Ready For Opening Tourney Action Friday

It will be tournament time for all four county schools Friday night when they open play in the AA Central District Sectionals at Grove City and Westland High Schools. Teays Valley (8-10) for the season will be meeting a rugged London team who is having a losing season but has faced some narrow decisions against top flight competition. They dropped a 74-70 contest to third seeded Bexley Saturday on the Lions' home court.

The game is to be played at Westland High School. It was originally scheduled for 7 p.m. but has been moved up to 6 p.m. with the doors opening at 5 p.m. The gym will be cleared before the St. Charles Wehrle game which follows. Anyone wishing to see the second game must buy another ticket.

Logan Elm (12-6) will meet Westfall (12-6) in the opening game at Grove City. They were scheduled for 7 p.m. but the game has been moved up to 6 p.m.

The Circleville (17-1) game with Lakewood (13-5) has been moved back one-half hour and will start at 9 p.m. The gym will be cleared after the Logan Elm-Westfall game and anyone wishing to see the Circleville game will have to purchase another ticket.

Coach Bob Hoovers' Vikings are averaging 70.5 points a game while giving up 68.7 defensively.

Jeff Cauer is top scorer for the Blue and Gold with an 18.2 average. Tim Tosca is hitting 11.4 and Dave Schiff is getting 10.6.

Other help for the Vikings comes from Terry Trego, Tim Tosca, Ranie Wohnhas, Mike Johnson, Charles Morrison, Mark Messick, Jeff Voss and Rusty Rathburn.

The Westfall-Logan Elm clash promises to be a real battle and provide the fans with plenty of action.

Coach Asa Bradbury's Braves are putting 65.1 points per game on the board while allowing the opposition 59.0.

Jeff Reichelderfer leads the Braves with 17.3 points per game, Chuck Cave is getting 10.8 and Mike Miller is hitting 10.

Also coming through with fine work for Logan Elm are Scott Allen, Mark Skinner, Steve Rawlins, Randy Pontius, Lonnie Maxson, Dave Dean

and Randy Strous.

The Mustangs of coach Mike Eckle are hitting the nets for 64.1 points per contest while giving up 59.4 to their opponents.

Kevin Reid leads the Mustang scoring with 14.3, Chris Riddle is hitting for 11.9 and Terry Hanson is adding 8.1 per game.

Adding power to the Mustangs are John Schleich, Neil Keller, Bill Hamman, Bill Evans, Jeff Karshner, Larry Bilek, John Long, Mack Dick and Eric Schleich.

Lakewood is a big team who likes to take advantage of the fast break. They will go with a 1-4 offense with the posts and wings all low but not stacked.

On defense, they play a full court 1-2-1, 2-2-1 and man to man.

Playing for the Lancers will be: Todd Yoho, 5-foot-9; Jay Davison, 6-foot-2; Jim Noonan, 6-foot-4; Greg Framke, 6-foot-1; Casey Milligan, 5-foot-10; Hank Richter, 6-foot-3; and Lonnie Watson, 5-foot-11.

Circleville is racking up 66.5 points a game while the stingy Tiger defense is holding the opposition to 51.5.

They are shooting 53.5 per cent from the floor and 61.1 from the charity stripe.

Biff Bumgarner paces the Red and Black attack with 21.2 per game, George Moore is averaging 16.7, Mike McCoy is hitting 11.3, Brent Mancini is getting 6.8 and Frank Merrill is netting 4.9.

Bench strength will come from Warren Yamarick, Rusty Holbrook, Jeff Williams, Brian Fath, Wendell Perkins, Eric Pontius and Toren Bensonhaver.

"We are very pleased with our regular season and have accomplished all of our team goals except a very important one — That is to have a great tournament," Circleville coach Jim Bailey stated.

"On the first day of practice we began working on fundamentals with the idea of building a solid foundation for tournament success. Our tough second half schedule should be great preparation for the tournament.

"We begin with high hopes, promise a total effort and we will be ready to play. On behalf of all the players and coaches, we would like to express our thanks to our loyal fans for their fine support," Bailey said.

Tiger Girls Defeat Logan Elm, 48-43

UP IN THE AIR — Circleville's Natalie Martin (24) attempts to block a shot by an unidentified Logan Elm cager. Watching the action for the Tigers are Sue Stevenson (42) and Darla Hughes (34). Circleville won the contest 48-43.

Circleville's girls cage squad ran its season record to 10-1 with a 48-43 win over Logan Elm Wednesday night on the Braves' court.

The Braves grabbed a lead in the first quarter but the Tigers battled back to gain a 6-6 tie at the buzzer.

Circleville never trailed again as the Tigers led 26-17 at halftime and 40-29 at the third period buzzer.

It was a tough loss for the Braves of coach Kathi Thompson as they battled back in the final canto but never could quite close the gap.

Coach Joy O'Brien of Circleville went to her bench with four minutes to go in the contest and all the Tigers saw action.

Sue Stevenson led Circleville with 12 points, Darla Hughes and Natalie Martin each had 10, Sue Crist hooped eight while Lisa Leahy and Wanda Boyd each had four.

Terri Ebert was tops for Logan Elm with 16 points, Diane Martin netted 13, Beth Bell tallied eight while Abby Rife and Anette Roof all had three.

Logan Elm won the battle of the boards with Diane Martin and Beth Bell being the big rebounders. Sue Stevenson, Darla Hughes and Natalie Martin were tops for Circleville.

The Tigers hit 24 of 59 from the floor for 41 per cent but were cut off at the foul line with none of seven.

Logan Elm was 20 of 72 from the field for 28 per cent and converted three of 13 from the foul line for 23 per cent.

Circleville committed 25 turnovers while the Braves had 29.

"Sue Stevenson and Lisa Leahy both played fine defensive games with some good blocks and steals," coach O'Brien stated. "It was a good overall team effort after coming off our first loss of the season."

Circleville's reserves are now 10-0 after downing the Braves 32-22.

The Tigers led all the way, 12-6, 18-12 and 26-20.

Logan Elm Reserves Have Good Season

The Logan Elm High School reserve basketball team completed its season with a 12-6 overall record and a 9-5 mark in the Mid State League.

Two of the wins by the Braves were against Mid State reserve champion Amanda-Clearcreek, and two of the losses were in overtime. "If we could have turned our two overtime losses into victories, we would definitely have shared the league title," according to reserve coach Nick Damopoulos.

In reviewing his squad, Damopoulos singled out Jeff Collins and Jerry Scanlon as the team's most consistent players, Doug Woods as "providing a great deal of floor confidence" and Todd Young as a "pleasant surprise as the season progressed."

Collins was the leading scorer on the squad with a 10.05 point per game average. Scanlon averaged eight points per game, Tony Crist 6.55 per game, Mike Patrick 4.38 per game, Doug Woods eight per game, Rock Huggins 3.72 per game, Lynn Strehle 4.13 per game and Young 3.07 per game.

Huggins was the leading rebounder with a 5.5 per game average, Woods had a 4.8 per game average and Scanlon a 3.8 per game average.

Stumbling Block Mars Baseball Talks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A single word, "retroactively," stands as the major stumbling block in negotiations between major league baseball owners and the Players Association, a dispute that has delayed spring training and threatens even the start of the 1976 season.

Of course, it's all really not that simple, and apparently there will be no baseball until the owners have run the gamut of court action. But the onerous issue is a thorny one in the continuing talks.

Briefly, an arbitrator, and later a federal judge, ruled that the standard baseball contract allows a player to play out a one-year option season, then become a free agent. The ruling stripped the owners of their most precious right, lifetime ownership of the players.

So the owners have two strikes against them. But they're still at bat, before a federal tribunal in St. Louis. If they take a third strike, the old ball game is going to take on a new look. The latest talks between the owners' negotiating committee and the Players Association, headed by executive director Marvin Miller, went on for about two hours Wednesday. There was no progress reported. They agreed to meet again Friday in New York.

Both sides indicate a willingness to compromise on the controversial reserve clause, but the owners want any agreement to be retroactive to last Dec. 31, when a two-year collective bargaining agreement with the association expired.

Miller smiles pleasantly and says, "No way." He's not about to give away the rights won by the players from the arbitrator and the judge. He says more pointedly that he cannot legally negotiate a compromise that gives away these rights. He contends that every player would have to sign a waiver of his new one-year option privilege.

The owners, led by chief negotiator John Gaherin, claim that a collective bargaining agreement would supercede any player's right to invoke the one-year option.

GYMNAST — Lynne Klim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Klim, 575 Mapleview Lane, won top honors in the gymnastic meet between Chillicothe YMCA, of which she is a member, and Cambridge YMCA. Lynne placed first in all-around, floor and bars. She finished second in the vault and on the beam, competing in the 12 to 14 age group. Chillicothe's next meet will be at home 1 p.m. Saturday.

Howsam Unhappy With Baseball Trend

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam, a conservative member of the major league baseball owners negotiation team, said that baseball should remain at a standstill until an equitable solution to its problems is resolved.

Howsam also said the conflict between ownership and the Major League Players Association over the reserve clause cannot be allowed to undermine confidence to the fans in the game.

"Ownership has to go as far as necessary to get a fair and equitable agreement that will enable it to do a job," Howsam said.

He said the owners' prime concern, since the reserve clause was thrown out, is to come to an agreement that "allows us to put on the field a team that is interesting and competitive enough to deserve support of the fans."

"If there are so many rules that you can't do this, if it gets to where you can't do a job for the fans, is it worth trying to do a job?"

"Marvin Miller is saying the players are offering no proposal to change the reserve system, as if nothing has happened. They don't have to offer proposals, they got what they wanted."

"But as a result of arbitration, the entire reserve system has changed. We have virtually no control at all. This undermines the very foundation of the game."

Howsam said ownership is seeking to carry on in the tradition of the game as it was and that it is not necessarily interested in a profit motive.

"The majority of ownership is not in baseball to make a whole lot of money. No one does. In Cincinnati, (major stock holder) Louis Nippert merely wants to keep the game on a sound basis to present the fan with the kind of entertainment he wants at the ball park. It is a hard pill to swallow, what is happening."

"If this undermines the confidence of the fans so that they will not support us, we have no game. If we allow salaries to escalate so that we must raise ticket prices out of the reach of fans, we're all out of business."

Howsam said he sees no need for a drastic change in the reserve system.

"There is room for modifications in some ways. But we've had a sport that's been fairly successful. We must be careful we don't kill the goose that laid the golden egg."

"We'd all like to open camps and have an agreement. But we're so far apart. We must have an agreement that allows us to do the job," Howsam said.

Irish Rainmaker Wins Feature At Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Irish Rainmaker found a hole between two leaders at the top of the stretch and won the featured $1,100 featured pace mile at Lebanon Wednesday night by two lengths in 2:07.3-5.

The winner returned $22.80, $8.20 and $4.60. Harguis Creek placed, $4.80 and $4.80 and Bryans Scottie Jeff, third, $4.80.

The 4-6 daily double of Galey Chief and Miss Mighty Tar paid $75.40. The crowd of 1,314 bet $113,774.

Canadiens Beat Scouts; Win Tilt 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kansas City Coach Eddie Bush could have been angry. His team had lost to the powerhouse Montreal Canadiens after giving up three goals in the third period.

Instead, the new mentor found every silver lining he could in the cloud that has been following his National Hockey League club.

"Every time you look up the sky is falling on the guys," he said after the 3-1 loss Wednesday night. "We've got everybody on the team hurt now, so what's next?"

Bush was exaggerating only slightly. The Scouts entered the contest with five regulars injured and lost three defenseman while losing the game.

"But can you imagine?" bubbled Bush, "we held Montreal off the scoreboard for two periods! Now that's something. We played well for two periods; we just gave away a couple of goals in the third."

Yvan Cournoyer and Yvon Lambert each had a goal and an assist to help Montreal overcome a first-period score by Darcy Rota and lead the Canadiens to their 45th victory of the season.

Scouts' goalie Denis Herron was spectacular, stopping 33 shots with a dozen coming from point-blank range.

"That little goaltender played well," said Bush. "He made some great saves and kept us ahead 1-0."

In the other NHL encounters, California topped the New York Rangers 6-4, Atlanta rallied to tie Pittsburgh 3-3 and Toronto blasted Detroit 6-0.

Jack Nicklaus has won the PGA player of the year award four times since 1967.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A single word, "retroactively," stands as the major stumbling block in negotiations between major league baseball owners and the Players Association, a dispute that has delayed spring training and threatens even the start of the 1976 season.

Of course, it's all really not that simple, and apparently there will be no baseball until the owners have run the gamut of court action. But the onerous issue is a thorny one in the continuing talks.

Briefly, an arbitrator, and later a federal judge, ruled that the standard baseball contract allows a player to play out a one-year option season, then become a free agent. The ruling stripped the owners of their most precious right, lifetime ownership of the players.

So the owners have two strikes against them. But they're still at bat, before a federal tribunal in St. Louis. If they take a third strike, the old ball game is going to take on a new look. The latest talks between the owners' negotiating committee and the Players Association, headed by executive director Marvin Miller, went on for about two hours Wednesday. There was no progress reported. They agreed to meet again Friday in New York.

Both sides indicate a willingness to compromise on the controversial reserve clause, but the owners want any agreement to be retroactive to last Dec. 31, when a two-year collective bargaining agreement with the association expired.

Miller smiles pleasantly and says, "No way." He's not about to give away the rights won by the players from the arbitrator and the judge. He says more pointedly that he cannot legally negotiate a compromise that gives away these rights. He contends that every player would have to sign a waiver of his new one-year option privilege.

The owners, led by chief negotiator John Gaherin, claim that a collective bargaining agreement would supercede any player's right to invoke the one-year option.

Howsam Unhappy With Baseball Trend

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds President Bob Howsam, a conservative member of the major league baseball owners negotiation team, said that baseball should remain at a standstill until an equitable solution to its problems is resolved.

Howsam also said the conflict between ownership and the Major League Players Association over the reserve clause cannot be allowed to undermine confidence for the fans in the game.

"Ownership has to go as far as necessary to get a fair and equitable

Canadiens Beat Scouts; Win Tilt 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kansas City Coach Eddie Bush could have been angry. His team had lost to the powerhouse Montreal Canadiens after giving up three goals in the third period.

Instead, the new mentor found every silver lining he could in the cloud that has been following his National Hockey League club.

"Every time you look up the sky is falling on the guys," he said after the 3-1 loss Wednesday night. "We've got everybody on the team hurt now, so what's next?"

Bush was exaggerating only slightly. The Scouts entered the contest with five regulars injured and lost three defenseman while losing the game.

"But can you imagine?" bubbled Bush, "we held Montreal off the scoreboard for two periods! Now that's something. We played well for two periods; we just gave away a couple of goals in the third."

Yvan Cournoyer and Yvon Lambert each had a goal and an assist to help Montreal overcome a first-period score by Darcy Rota and lead the Canadiens to their 45th victory of the season.

Scouts' goalie Denis Herron was spectacular, stopping 33 shots with a dozen coming from point-blank range. "That little goaltender played well," said Bush. "He made some great saves and kept us ahead 1-0."

In the other NHL encounters, California topped the New York Rangers 6-4, Atlanta rallied to tie Pittsburgh 3-3 and Toronto blasted Detroit 8-0.

Jack Nicklaus has won the PGA player of the year award four times since 1967.

Western Michigan, Miami Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Western Michigan and Miami continued their winning ways Wednesday night and moved a step closer to their anticipated showdown next week for the Mid-American Conference basketball championship.

Western cruised to a 73-63 triumph over Kent State and Miami easily handled Ball State 81-63 to remain deadlocked for the league lead with 12-1 records.

The two teams each face one more conference test Saturday — Western hosting Ball State and Miami traveling to neighboring rival Ohio University — before they meet headon at Oxford next Wednesday night.

In other MAC action, Toledo tightened its grip on third place by whipping Bowling Green 89-66, while Ohio University edged Eastern Michigan 78-75 and Central Michigan squeaked past Northern Illinois 77-75.

Western Michigan was paced by Tom Cutter with 26 points as it outlasted a stubborn Kent team to improve its overall record to 21-1. The Broncos held only a two-point advantage with 6:39 left in the game but started pulling away after Kent's leading scorer, James Collins, fouled out.

Western Michigan Coach Eldon Miller said the key to the triumph was the fact that his team overcame the Golden Flashes' zone defense and managed "to work the ball inside so well." He noted that Cutter made all but one of his field goals from the inside.

The loss dropped Kent to a 6-7 league mark.

Miami had little trouble with Ball State as Chuck Goodyear poured in 23 points. The Redskins outshot Ball State 61 to 47 per cent. The Cardinals, led by Archie Aldridge with 22 points, suffered their ninth loss in 13 conference games.

"Our defense was the difference in the ball game," said Miami Coach Darrell Hedrick. "In the first half we weren't very sharp, but in the second half we played good defense."

Toledo remained close behind the leaders in the conference standings with a 10-3 mark by beating Bowling Green behind the 24 and 22-point performances of Mike Larsen and Larry Cole, respectively. Bowling Green saw its record drop to 6-7.

Ohio handed Eastern Michigan its 12th loss in 13 league contests as Chuck Seltzer tipped in the winning basket with 1:21 to go and added a free throw to ice the verdict. The victory gave Ohio sole possession of fourth place in the standings with a 7-6 mark.

Central Michigan survived a late Northern Illinois threat to hike its record to 6-7. Ben Poquette paced the winners with 24 points. The loss kept NIU mired with Eastern Michigan in the MAC cellar at 1-12.

In other Ohio college basketball action, Dayton gave sixth-ranked Notre Dame a scare, but the Irish pulled out 85-79 triumph to improve their record to 21-4.

Paced by Adrian Dantley, who finished with 30 points, Notre Dame outscored the Flyers 10-3 in the final four minutes of play for the victory.

Johnny Davis poured in a game-high 38 points for Dayton, now 12-12.

Elsewhere, Youngstown State whipped Alliance, Pa., 95-59; Akron beat Ashland 78-72, Findlay downed Dyke 95-83 and TriState edged Defiance 78-76.

Fishing Records Continue To Fall

By JIM DAUBEL
Written For Associated Press

Ohio fishing records continued falling in 1975.

Six fish in five categories were officially recognized during the year as the largest of their species ever caught in the state.

New records are not uncommon in the Buckeye State. Thirty-seven marks have fallen since 1968, according to the official list maintained by Outdoors Writers of Ohio, Inc., (OWO).

In each of the eight years at least one record was broken. Eight new records were established in 1972, the busiest of the most recent years. The fewest changes came in 1971 when only one fish was recognized.

Only the largest Ohio fish ever recorded in each of 29 species categories are recognized by OWO.

Size is determined according to a formula which gives one point for each ounce of weight and one point for each one-half inch in length.

As records push toward the maximums that might be expected for various species, recognition will be based on smaller and smaller weight and length differences. Anticipating that, OWO in recent years has refined its application procedures to insure accuracy.

Weighing of potential record fish must be witnessed by two people. A close-up photograph must be submitted with the application for recognition. In most cases a member of OWO or a wildlife division employee will inspect the fish to verify size and identification. The writers group suggests that the fish be kept frozen to allow for examination if warranted.

The fish accepted as state records in 1975 are:

—Northern pike: 18 pounds, 10 ounces, caught by Michael Cullen of Sandusky on March 16 at East Harbor State Park. The previous record was a 16-pound, 4-ounce fish.

—Coho salmon: 10 pounds, 15 ounces, caught in the Chagrin River on Oct. 10 by Linwood Moneymaker of Mentor. A 7¾-pound coho was the previous record.

—Striped bass: 25 pounds, 4-ounces, taken May 19 by Cincinnati Caroline Fells in Lake St. Marys. It topped a 17-pound, 8-ounce striper caught in 1974.

—Rainbow trout: 15 pounds, 8 ounces caught by Edward Molnar, Lorain, in Cold Creek on April 24. Previous record was a 11-pound, 11-ounce trout taken in 1972.

—Buffalo sucker: This record was broken twice in 1975, first by a Maumee River fish that weighed 17 pounds, eight ounces and finally by an enormous 33-pound sucker caught by Rufus Clendenning of Cincinnati in the Sandusky River on May 10. The huge buffalo topped the old record of 9 pounds, 10 ounces by an almost unbelievable 23 pounds, 6 ounces.

You can obtain a free record fish list and application form by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this writer: Jim Daubel, Box 311, Fremont, Ohio, 43420.

Notre Dame Whips Dayton, 85-79

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

For years, Notre Dame's basketball team has been fighting an uphill battle at the Dayton University Arena.

But the Fighting Irish finally turned the one-way street around Wednesday night.

The Irish, who seemingly have been successful everywhere else but at Dayton, managed to win their first game ever on the Flyers' home court — an excruciating 85-79 victory that left COACH Digger Phelps wrung out.

"I'm just happy to win here," said Phelps. "We were well prepared and our nine guys did the job."

Particularly, Adrian Dantley did the job with his 30 points and Dave Batton did one also with two crucial free throws in the waning minutes.

In other top college games, third-ranked Rutgers whipped William & Mary 100-90; 10th-ranked Maryland turned back Wake Forest 105-91 and No. 16 Western Michigan beat Kent State 73-63.

Notre Dame took the lead for good on Batton's two free throws with less than four minutes to play. Johnny Davis of Dayton was the game's most explosive player with 38 points. The victory boosted Notre Dame's record to 21-4 and virtually locked up a bid to the NCAA playoffs.

Mike Dabney scored a career-high 33 points, pacing Rutgers over William & Mary. The Indians were intimidated by the powerful Scarlet Knights early in the game, allowing Rutgers to streak to a 22-8 lead with 11:39 left in first half. But the Indians cut the deficit to 35-34 on a jumper by Billy Harrington. Rutgers, 24-0, one of only two unbeaten major college teams, pulled back out to a 50-41 lead at the half on a 13-5 scoring spree and controlled the game the rest of the way.

William & Mary's Ron Satterthwaite scored 23 points and Billy Harrington had 14.

John Lucas scored 22 of his 24 points as Maryland rolled to a 55-36 halftime lead and went on to whip Wake Forest. Lucas connected on eight of 12 shots from the floor as the Terps sank 65 per cent of their attempts in the first half, en route to posting their 20th victory of the season. Maryland has a 6-5 record in the ACC, accounting for all of its losses in league play.

Tom Cutter scored 26 points as Western Michigan defeated Kent State for its 12th MidAmerican Conference victory in 13 games.

Denver Beats Pacers, 122-110

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver is running away from the rest of the American Basketball Association but the Nuggets slowed things down and ran away from the Indiana Pacers 122-110 Wednesday night.

"We were trying hard to create plays instead of running hard," said Coach Larry Brown. "When we kept the tempo down we could play better and set up the shots."

The Nuggets' Dan Issel set up enough shots to score a game-high 35 points.

Denver held a four-point margin when the fourth quarter began but baskets by Bobby Jones, Issel, Claude Terry and Ralph Simpson helped build the margin to eight points early in the fourth quarter.

The Pacers were led by Billy Knight's 33 points. Denver also got 26 points from rookie David Thompson and 19 points from Simpson. Mike Flynn added 20 for Indiana.

By winning, Denver opened a six-game lead over the runnerup New York Nets, who bowed to the San Antonio Spurs 116-106. In another game, the Virginia Squires downed the Spirits of St. Louis 105-96.

Duerk Promotes Industry For Ohio

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Local and state government policies "must be designed to help attract industry and jobs throughout the state," development Director James A. Duerk said Wednesday.

Duerk told the Northeastern Four-County Organization groups like NEFCO, which serves Summit, Stark, Portage and Wayne counties, that chambers of commerce and area development organizations must join in a drive to create a climate in Ohio to encourage industrial expansion.

He called for special tax incentives for industry locating in areas with high rates of unemployment.

Dr. Studied Weak Aortic Wall Cases

CHICAGO (AP) — Survival should be the rule rather than the exception when the aortic artery wall weakens and threatens to burst, Dr. Constantine E. Anagnostopoulos, University of Chicago heart surgeon, believes.

Rupture of the aorta is the most common cause of death in such cases, he says. But early and correct diagnosis and treatment can sometimes prevent death.

Dr. Anagnostopoulos has written a book, "Acute Aortic Dissections," reviewing the literature on the subject, the records of 36 patients with the condition whom he has followed during the past seven years and the experience of surgeons with 549 cases.

Of 969 patients who received no medical or surgical treatment for the condition, 90 per cent died within a year.

Stingers Turn Back New England, 5-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Like most expansion teams, the Cincinnati Stingers are playing sub-.500 hockey. Unlike most other first-year clubs, they occupy a strange place in the standings . . . first place.

The Stingers snapped a tie with New England in the World Hockey Association's East Division with a 5-2 head-to-head victory over the Whalers Wednesday night, pulling two points ahead of them and four in front of the Cleveland Crusaders, 5-2 losers to the Winnipeg Jets.

Elsewhere, the San Diego Mariners edged the money-hungry Minnesota Fighting Saints 2-1 and the Calgary Cowboys turned back the Edmonton Oilers 5-2.

Fishing Records Continue To Fall

By JIM DAUBEL

Written For Associated Press
Ohio fishing records continued falling in 1975.

Six fish in five categories were officially recognized during the year as the largest of their species ever caught in the state.

New records are not uncommon in the Buckeye State. Thirty-seven marks have fallen since 1968, according to the official list maintained by Outdoors Writers of Ohio, Inc., (OWO).

In each of the eight years at least one record was broken. Eight new records were established in 1972, the busiest of the most recent years. The fewest changes came in 1971 when only one fish was recognized.

Only the largest Ohio fish ever recorded in each of 29 species categories are recognized by OWO.

Size is determined according to a formula which gives one point for each ounce of weight and one point for each one-half inch in length.

As records push toward the maximums that might be expected for various species, recognition will be based on smaller and smaller weight and length differences. Anticipating that, OWO in recent years has refined its application procedures to insure accuracy.

Weighing of potential record fish must be witnessed by two people. A close-up photograph must be submitted with the application for recognition. In most cases a member of OWO or a wildlife division employee will inspect the fish to verify size and identification. The writers group suggests that the fish be kept frozen to allow for examination if warranted.

The fish accepted as state records in 1975 are:

—Northern pike: 18 pounds, 10 ounces, caught by Michael Cullen of Sandusky on March 16 at East Harbor State Park. The previous record was a 16-pound, 4-ounce fish.

—Coho salmon: 10 pounds, 15 ounces, caught in the Chagrin River on Oct. 10 by Linwood Moneymaker of Mentor. A 7¼-pound coho was the previous record.

—Striped bass: 25 pounds, 4-ounces, taken May 19 by Cincinnati Caroline Fells in Lake St. Marys. It topped a 17-pound, 8-ounce striper caught in 1974.

—Rainbow trout: 15 pounds, 8 ounces caught by Edward Molnar, Lorain, in Cold Creek on April 24. Previous record was a 11-pound, 11-ounce trout taken in 1972.

—Buffalo sucker: This record was broken twice in 1975, first by a Maumee River fish that weighed 17 pounds, eight ounces and finally by an enormous 33-pound sucker caught by Rufus Clendenning of Cincinnati in the Sandusky River on May 10. The huge buffalo topped the old record of 9 pounds, 10 ounces by an almost unbelievable 23 pounds, 6 ounces.

You can obtain a free record fish list and application form by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this writer: Jim Daubel, Box 311, Fremont, Ohio, 43420.

Notre Dame Whips Dayton, 85-79

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

For years, Notre Dame's basketball team has been fighting an uphill battle at the Dayton University Arena.

But the Fighting Irish finally turned the one-way street around Wednesday night.

The Irish, who seemingly have been successful everywhere else but at Dayton, managed to win their first game ever on the Flyers' home court — an excruciating 85-79 victory that left COACH Digger Phelps wrung out.

"I'm just happy to win here," said Phelps. "We were well prepared and our nine guys did the job."

Particularly, Adrian Dantley did the job with his 30 points and Dave Batton did one also with two crucial free throws in the waning minutes.

Denver Beats Pacers, 122-110

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver is running away from the rest of the American Basketball Association but the Nuggets slowed things down and ran away from the Indiana Pacers 122-110 Wednesday night.

"We were trying hard to create plays instead of running hard," said Coach Larry Brown. "When we kept the tempo down we could play better and set up the shots."

The Nuggets' Dan Issel set up enough shots to score a game-high 35 points.

Denver held a four-point margin when the fourth quarter began but baskets by Bobby Jones, Issel, Claude Terry and Ralph Simpson helped build the margin to eight points early in the fourth quarter.

The Pacers were led by Billy Knight's 33 points. Denver also got 26 points from rookie David Thompson and 19 points from Simpson. Mike Flynn added 20 for Indiana.

By winning, Denver opened a six-game lead over the runnerup New York Nets, who bowed to the San Antonio Spurs 116-106. In another game, the Virginia Squires downed the Spirits of St. Louis 105-96.

Dr. Studied Weak Aortic Wall Cases

CHICAGO (AP) — Survival should be the rule rather than the exception when the aortic artery wall weakens and threatens to burst, Dr. Constantine E. Anagnostopoulos, University of Chicago heart surgeon, believes.

Rupture of the aorta is the most common cause of death in such cases, he says. But early and correct diagnosis and treatment can sometimes prevent death.

Dr. Anagnostopoulos has written a book, "Acute Aortic Dissections," reviewing the literature on the subject, the records of 36 patients with the condition whom he has followed during the past seven years and the experience of surgeons with 549 cases.

Of 969 patients who received no medical or surgical treatment for the condition, 90 per cent died within a year.

Duerk Promotes Industry For Ohio

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Local and state government policies "must be designed to help attract industry and jobs throughout the state," development Director James A. Duerk said Wednesday.

Duerk told the Northeastern Four-County Organization groups like NEFCO, which serves Summit, Stark, Portage and Wayne counties, that chambers of commerce and area development organizations must join in a drive to create a climate in Ohio to encourage industrial expansion.

He called for special tax incentives for industry locating in areas with high rates of unemployment.

Fort Wayne Audit Fingers Ex-Mayor

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An audit of the city of Fort Wayne showing almost $50,000 in missing or misspent funds was released today by the State Board of Accounts.

About $45,000 already has been repaid, according to the audit, the biggest chunk of it by former mayor Ivan Lebamoff.

The balance, just over $4,000, was attributed to excess compensation paid to the wife of the city utilities accountant for advisory services. A report on those missing funds was certified to the attorney general for collection.

The audit covered a two-year period from Jan. 1, 1972 to Dec. 31, 1974, when Lebamoff was mayor.

The report also turned up improper procedures used in transferring and appropriating city, state and federal funds and some questionable expenditures.

The audit also stated the city had paid some individuals for "personal services rendered to the city" without sufficient information on the length of time worked or the rate of pay.

The disputed money paid for accounting advice went to Eileen B. Trask, wife of Walter E. Trask, head of the city utilities accounting department.

Mrs. Trask was hired Nov. 21, 1973 as a consultant at a rate of $4.89 per hour. According to the audit, by fall of 1975, she was being paid $7 per hour and had collected for 80 hours of holiday pay not worked. The auditors said she should repay the city for the excess for the agreed-upon hourly rate and the hours not worked.

The audit turned up money taken from the civil city and utility funds for traveling expenses, for officials families for lodging and meals extending beyond the dates of official business, meal expenses for persons not employed by the city and personal expenses.

The total amount of excess expenses was $44,942, the audit said.

According to the audit, Lebamoff paid back $9,345 in disputed travel and gift expenses that included $695 for gifts including sterling silver cufflinks, sterling silver pens and desk sets with Lebamoff's signature on them and $1,260 in excess transportation costs during the period Lebamoff made trips to Indianapolis, Boston, Atlanta, New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and San Diego. Some of his aides during the same time made trips to Europe, San Juan, Honolulu, Toronto and Dallas.

Dayton Budget Tidbits Listed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The 1976 City of Dayton Budget Book has a few interesting bits of information to take ones' mind off the figures of today:

—From 1805-1841 the city's entire police force consisted of one marshal. He was paid $25 a year, and was responsible for enforcing, among other laws, an ordinance regulating the "running at large of hogs."

—In the 1880s the city spent $1,100 to buy a horse and equipment for mounted police service.

—In 1856, firefighters faced hazards not normally found today. In that year one fireman died after being struck in the head by a brick during a fight between two volunteer departments over who could put out a blaze in a carpenter shop.

Molly Pitcher took the place of her wounded husband on a cannon crew during the battle of Monmouth in 1778.

Freed Americans Fly From Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two U.S. Embassy officials released after four months of captivity in Lebanon flew to Athens today for a reunion with their families and a trip home to the United States.

Charles Gallagher, 44, of Roanoke, Va., and William Dykes Jr., 50, of San Jose, Calif., boarded a Middle East Airlines jet for the Greek capital 18½ hours after their release Wednesday night.

They spent the night at a secret location in the Lebanese capital, and this morning a five-car convoy of U.S. Embassy and Lebanese security cars took them to the entrance of the Boeing 707's first-class compartment.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said on their release that the two men looked rumpled and their hair was long but they were "in good health and good spirits." Neither had been injured or tortured during the ordeal, he added.

Dykes is prone to high blood pressure but was able to obtain enough medicine to control his condition during his captivity, the spokesman said.

The Embassy refused to let reporters or photographers see the men.

Gallagher and Dykes were kidnapped Oct. 22 on their way to work at a U.S. Information Agency printing plant. They were delivered to Embassy officials at the Beirut home of Kamal Junblatt, the Druze Moslem leader of the Progressive Socialist party.

The Socialists, a leading participant on the Moslem side of the 10-month civil war, said they were only a conduit for the men's release, and that it was arranged by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a radical guerrilla group.

Leaders of all Palestinian and leftist groups had denied any part in the abduction. The Embassy spokesman declined to say who had held the pair and added: "As far as the Embassy knows, there were no conditions and no ransom."

U.S. diplomats said they did not know why the men's release was held up for so long nor why the captors let them go without ransom.

Boaters To Celebrate Bicentennial Year

Ohio boaters will help celebrate America's Bicentennial this year by displaying patriotic red, white and blue boat registration decals.

The 1976 decals, required to be displayed on all boats operating on Ohio waters, have an outline of the state with a red border. Within the border on a white background are the numerals "76" in stars and stripes.

This year's boat and motor registrations are now available from agents throughout the state, said Norv Hall, Chief of the Division of Watercraft of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The 1975 registrations expire March 1.

"Boaters should obtain registrations early to avoid the rush later on, especially at those agencies that handle both watercraft and auto registrations," Hall said.

Indiana Assembly Finishes Work

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A stroke of the governor's pen puts the finishing touches on the handiwork of the 1976 Indiana General Assembly.

Gov. Otis R. Bowen approved 31 bills Wednesday and let two others become law without his signature. During this session, Bowen has signed 158 bills, vetoed six others and endorsed five resolutions.

Among the bills signed Wednesday were the $3.4 billion budget for fiscal 1976-77, revised campaign finance reporting regulations and a measure compensating retail merchants for collecting state sales taxes.

Bowen also approved a measure providing for immunization of preschool children against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles and polio.

Contraceptives Taken Off Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — New evidence that sequential oral contraceptives may be harmful to women has led three major drug companies to withdraw the products from the market, the Food and Drug Administration says.

The birth control pills being withdrawn are Oracon, made by Mead-Johnson and Co.; Ortho-Novum SQ, by Ortho Pharmaceuticals; and Norguans, by Syntex Laboratories, FDA announced Wednesday.

The sequential pills are used by an estimated 5 to 10 per cent of the 10 million American women who take oral contraceptives.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stellar influences somewhat mixed, but generally on the favorable side. You may get unexpected help in a personal problem through a business associate.
TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Caution should be day's keynote. Don't create unnecessary problems through impulsiveness, and don't take reckless chances.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some things you thought "impossible" begin to work out now, can be pushed by your know-how and ingenuity. Take the proverbial bull by the horns — and ACT!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You will now be in competition with top-flight persons and their activities. You can hold your own, advance some. Good ideas and eloquent speech will help.
LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Double-check plans. Work out business deals, all agreements with sound deliberation, ascertaining facts beforehand. Attainment now will spark more gains later.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid discouragement. Progress need not be swift as long as it is substantial in foundation. Past thoroughness and creditable endeavor WILL pay off — and soon.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your artistic touch will be needed for the "bare spots." And do be practical about fundamentals, domestic concerns, children's affairs. Don't harbor prejudices.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A few flies in the ointment? Perhaps a setback or disappointment? Be as stalwart as your capable self is able and you will bring in happy returns, help to counteract opposition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid a tendency to overdo things. Stars promise advancement if you are resourceful and accurate, but you MUST have a definite plan. Don't rush into undertakings unprepared.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Continue work on worthwhile projects even if you are temporarily bored. Don't go off on tangents just to relieve tedium and DO retain confidence in your goals and your ability to attain them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your outlook similar to that of Capricorn. Even if things slow down a bit, keep going? Prospects brightening in several areas.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day for watching-and-waiting, yet it calls for action sufficient enough to keep you from getting bogged down with doubts or indecisiveness. Routine matters will fare best.

YOU BORN TODAY are an affectionate, sensitive and idealistic individual. Others do not always understand you, but you have a deep insight which helps you to understand all with whom you come in contact. You have an especially great affinity for children and they love you. Patriotic Smuggling WASHINGTON (AP) — Smuggling was both profitable and patriotic during the Revolutionary War.

But many Americans continued the practice after the war was over and the 13 colonies had won their independence, according to the National Geographic.

Alexander Hamilton, the nation's first secretary of the treasury, did something about it. He prevailed on Congress to authorize 10 armed vessels to enforce payment of customs duties on goods entering American ports.

President Washington then signed an order appointing Hopley Yeaton of New Hampshire "Master of a cutter in service of the U.S. for protection of revenue."

That was the beginning of the present day Coast Guard.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stellar influences somewhat mixed, but generally on the favorable side. You may get unexpected help in a personal problem through a business associate.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Caution should be day's keynote. Don't create unnecessary problems through impulsiveness, and don't take reckless chances.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some things you thought "impossible" begin to work out now, can be pushed by your know-how and ingenuity. Take the proverbial bull by the horns — and ACT!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You will now be in competition with top-flight persons and their activities. You can hold your own, advance some. Good ideas and eloquent speech will help.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Double-check plans. Work out business deals, all agreements with sound deliberation, ascertaining facts beforehand. Attainment now will spark more gains later.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Avoid discouragement. Progress need not be swift as long as it is substantial in foundation. Past thoroughness and creditable endeavor WILL pay off — and soon.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Your artistic touch will be needed for the "bare spots." And do be practical about fundamentals, domestic concerns, children's affairs. Don't harbor prejudices.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A few flies in the ointment? Perhaps a setback or disappointment? Be as stalwart as your capable self is able and you will bring in happy returns, help to counteract opposition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid a tendency to overdo things. Stars promise advancement if you are resourceful and accurate, but you MUST have a definite plan. Don't rush into undertakings unprepared.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Continue work on worthwhile projects even if you are temporarily bored. Don't go off on tangents just to relieve tedium and DO retain confidence in your goals and your ability to attain them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your outlook similar to that of Capricorn. Even if things slow down a bit, keep going? Prospects brightening in several areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A day for watching-and-waiting, yet it calls for action sufficient enough to keep you from getting bogged down with doubts or indecisiveness. Routine matters will fare best.

YOU BORN TODAY are an affectionate, sensitive and idealistic individual. Others do not always understand you, but you have a deep insight which helps you to understand all with whom you come in contact. You have an especially great affinity for children and they love you. You rarely neglect a duty but are inclined to procrastinate at times, thus becoming tense and anxious when things "pile up on you." NEW YORK (AP) — An engrossing dramatization of the kidnapping and murder of Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son nearly 44 years ago is coming up tonight on NBC.

It stars Cliff De Young as Lindbergh, Sian Barbara Allen as his wife, and Anthony Hopkins, who does a brilliant job as Bruno Hauptmann, the German-born carpenter who died in New Jersey's electric chair on April 3, 1936, for the kidnap-murder of the child.

Entitled "The Lindbergh Kidnapping Case," this three-hour show begins with newsreel clips of Lindbergh's historic flight in 1927 from New York to Paris and the adulation and honors it brought him.

Then the actors take over, depicting the tragedy fame brought the Lindberghs on a stormy winter night in 1932, when their first-born child was kidnapped from their new home near Hopewell, N.J.

With the straightforwardness of a Police Gazette account, dramatist J. P. Miller recreates the case, using a sequence-of-events approach that starts with the horrified discovery by the family nurse that the child is missing.

The state police are summoned, followed by hordes of noisy, excited reporters trampling over whatever evidence may lie in the grounds around the Lindbergh home.

One even scrambles up a ladder to peer in the room from which the child was kidnapped, reminding me of Fred Allen's acid opinion that most reporters only think of humans as stories wrapped in skin.

The drama moves from scene to scene with workmanlike precision, telling the stories of major and minor figures in the tragedy and their place in it. The character sketches are largely one-dimensional — the show has 118 speaking roles, which tends to reduce character development — but good editing and taut direction help keep the program absorbing throughout.

Hauptmann's capture by New York police comes relatively late in the show. When he goes on trial in New Jersey, the scenes outside the courtroom are pure circus.

A radio reporter broadcasts news of the trial from his battle station in a courthouse men's room. Downstairs, a lady hawks "kidnap buttons" to commemorate the trial. Lindbergh arrives at the courthouse, gets a rousing cheer, has a coat button snipped off by a souvenir freak.

At night, the mob remains outside in the street, within earshot of Hauptmann's cell, chanting "Kill Hauptmann! Kill Hauptmann!"

He's convicted and twice granted stays of execution. When he's finally put in the electric chair at the state prison, one impatient citizen in a crowd outside the prison still shouts at a guard:

"Hey, what the hell's going on here? You gonna fry him or not?"

Although the program loses some impact by De Young's curiously wooden portrayal of Lindbergh, "The Lindbergh Kidnapping Case" is still strong, above average TV fare, fairly faithful to the sad facts of the case.

You've been watching way too much television lately if you:

—Can't recall whether Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor or Harry Reasoner won last night's New Hampshire primary.

—Have seen John Wayne doing an impression of Rich Little.

—Was thrilled at CBS' plans for live coverage of Muhammad Ali's next title fight, against Mason Reese (the commercials start at 9 p.m. EST, the bout an hour and 55 minutes later).

—Shrug when the television reporter asks the badly injured accident victim, "Can you tell us how you felt when the train hit your bicycle?"

—Watch a Saturday afternoon commercial, obediently pick up the phone as the announcer says, "Now, here's where to call..." and wind up wondering why you paid $6.95 for 20 old Teresa Brewer records.

—Believe the Public Broadcasting Service is made possible by a grant from the British Broadcasting Corporation.

—Quiet down during those dog food commercials where a coyote howls and Lorne Green whispers, "Shh! Listen! Listen!"

—Have seen the "American Academy of Humor Awards," "The People's Choice Awards," and "The American Music Awards" but still plan to watch the "Academy of Country Music Awards" as well as the shows handing out Tony, Grammy, Emmy and Oscar awards.

—Haven't heard rumors ABC will radically alter its summer Olympics show by televising every event live and in sequence while Jim McKay describes every event on tape and out of sequence. To heighten interest, Curt Gowdy reportedly will cover Pierre Salinger.

—Don't wonder why studio audiences don't hold up signs saying "Clap! Clap!" when the studio sign overhead flashes "Please Applaud."

Red Cross Board Discusses Problems

The Bloodmobile, location of a site for the office, and Volunteers were the principle topics discussed at the Wednesday evening meeting of Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross in the present headquarters, 167 Watt St.

At the recent visit of the Bloodmobile in Circleville 159 pints of blood was donated by 176 people. It was noted that volunteers are needed to assist in the program, both nurses and laymen. The usual time spent by a donor is 40 minutes for complete processing.

Etha Mae Wolford, executive director of the local chapter, Dick Wylie, chairman, and several board members planned to investigate a house which may be made suitable for the office on Thursday morning.

Volunteers, both adult and teenage, have contributed service that would have cost well over $40,000 to paid employees. They have worked at the Bloodmobile, Berger Hospital, nursing homes, driving, swimming instruction, disaster and first aid.

Mel Erlich, director of water safety said that chairmen are needed for the disaster and first aid programs. A recognition service was held recently honoring the Volunteers.

During the month of March, when the annual campaign is conducted, cards of appreciation will be sent to all who have contributed in any way to the work of the Red Cross in the county.

Because of the fire at the American Legion Post Home the Wednesday afternoon programs for veterans living in the area have been postponed. They will be resumed when another location is obtained or the Legion building is repaired.

Appointed to the budget committee were Keith Thomerson, Clara Burton, Bob Scranton and Howard Judd. During the month of February 68 trips were made using the cars of the chapter to transport 121 people for medical services.

On March 18 an End of the Year Review will be held by area chapters of the Red Cross at the Hilton in Worthington. Awards will be presented for outstanding service. The program begins at 11:30 and will be completed at about 3 p.m. Reservations for lunch may be made at the chapter office.

It was announced that on March 11 a report will be made on the progress of Franciscan Community Meals, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll, Circle Drive, from 1-3 p.m.

Muny Court Judge Speaker At Kiwanis

O. Charles Hosterman, judge of Circleville Municipal Court, was the speaker at Circleville Kiwanis meeting Tuesday.

Hosterman is a graduate of Ohio State University and has been a practicing attorney for 11 years. He was named by Governor James Rhodes to complete the unexpired term of the late Judge Sterling Lamb.

Judge Lamb had served the court since it was founded in 1953 until his death.

"Although the title of the court is the Circleville Municipal Court it does have county-wide jurisdiction," Judge Hosterman explained to the Kiwanians.

He reported the court has jurisdiction over both civil and criminal cases.

Judge Hosterman listed the following needs of the court: A prisoner detention area; more modern security measures; bigger facilities for the clerk of courts office; more adequate judge's chambers; more modern equipment.

Special guests at the weekly meeting included Frank Gans, Truman Eberly and Key Club members Jim Heacock and Tom Farynowski.

Ray Cundiff, president, announced the next board of directors meeting will be held March 3 at the home of Don Strawser, 345 Edwards Road.

Wes Barton stated Kiwanis could participate in the Kiwanis International Program of Save a Life by taking part in the local high blood pressure and diabetes clinics.

Senate Panel Turns Down Lopeman Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Ways and Means Committee voted 5-2 Wednesday against recommending the confirmation of Charles S. Lopeman as chairman of the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals.

Lopeman, a Republican appointee of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes, has been criticized by some majority Democrats for carrying out a Rhodes order for an administrative freeze the board placed on unvoted property taxes at their Jan. 1, 1975 levels.

They claim that the board, controlled 2-1 by Republicans, acted illegally in imposing the freeze, and predicted it will be thrown out if challenged in the courts.

The Senate panel currently is considering a House-approved bill that would have about the same effect on property taxes as the Rhodes' freeze order by requiring reductions in taxes based on increases in property values resulting from inflation.

Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, denied that he voted against Lopeman because of the tax freeze. "I just don't think he's very stable. He's emotional ... just not the man for the job."

Groups Hope To Stop Vet Hoax

The Veterans Administration and major veterans organizations have launched a joint effort to stamp out a hoax that has disappointed millions of veterans since it began in 1948.

James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service officer said the VA is receiving thousands of telephone calls and letters weekly from World War II veterans who have been deceived into expecting dividends on GI insurance they allowed to lapse years ago.

He added that the hoax has been recurring irregularly since 1948, and with each wave of letters it stimulates. VA expands to each applicant that dividends are payable only on policies that are kept in force. But the hoax is fueled anew every few years by the mysterious distribution of official-looking application forms complete with an address where dividends are said to be available for the asking. The bogus application alleges that dividends are payable even though premiums haven't been paid since 1945.

Shea theorizes that the rumor may have its roots in a special dividend paid in 1950 and 1951. All payments on that program were ended in 1970 by a Congressional act stipulating "No claim by an insured for payment in case of a special dividend declared prior to Jan. 1, 1952, shall be processed by the VA, unless such claim was recorded within six years after such dividend was declared."

Another theory is that the rumor is fueled annually by VA's announcement of dividends for holders of current insurance policies. These annual payments are made automatically and no application is necessary.

The unit is valued at $120. Police could find no signs of forced entry.

Lawrence Johnson, 322 S. Pickaway St., told police that thieves took his dress hat from a hat rack at the Pickaway Arms while he and his wife were eating dinner Feb. 15.

The hat is valued at $24.

Police said vandals broke the front glass from a soft drink machine at Dailey's Market, 289 Nicholas Drive.

Police think rocks were used to break the glass.

A Million Reasons To Give To Pickaway Heart Fund

"There are over a million reasons to give to the Heart Fund," according to Bob McKelvey, Pickaway County Heart Fund Chairman. "More than a million of us will die from some form of heart or blood vessel disease this year."

The Circleville Emergency Medical Team has been collecting for the Heart Fund in the city. A county-wide campaign is planned for this Sunday by volunteers.

"On top of this annual death toll, well over 28 million Americans have some form of heart disease. Not all of its victims suffer sudden death. Instead, they must live with long-term disability," McKelvey said.

Stroke afflicts more than one-and-a-half million living Americans. Coronary heart disease has affected nearly four million. Another one-and-a-half million persons suffer from rheumatic heart disease.

High blood pressure ranks highest among these diseases. Known to doctors as the "silent killer," high blood pressure usually produces no symptoms until it's too late. If left untreated, it can cause stroke, heart and kidney failure. More than 23 million Americans have it.

Although the incidence of heart disease is high, and the statistics seem discouraging, medical research has led the way to greater hope for the prevention of these diseases in the future.

Since 1948, the American Heart Association has allocated a quarter of a billion dollars to heart research. In Central Ohio last year, 42.5 cents of your Heart Fund dollar was allocated to research. And the achievements of research sponsored by Heart Fund dollars are legion. For example:

Only 25 years ago, a heart attack victim's chances for survival were poor. Today, coronary care units with round-the-clock monitoring systems have demonstrated that in-hospital deaths from heart attack can be reduced by 30 per cent.

Certain abnormal heart rhythms now can be corrected by implanting electronic pacemakers.

A broad spectrum of surgical techniques has made possible the replacement of defective heart valves with artificial ones.

Some types of strokes can be anticipated and prevented. Along with special diagnostic techniques, surgeons can either clean out blocked arteries or replace them with synthetic substitutes.

Research must continue to move ahead and provide more answers and cures for heart disease. Beyond the immediate goal of curing those now suffering from heart and blood vessel diseases, the long-range goal of the American Heart Association is prevention.

With prevention as the keynote of research efforts, scientists can look to preventive cardiology as a means of protecting our hearts in the future. You can help make this goal a reality for you and your loved ones by generously supporting your local Heart Fund.
